Daily we return,

From country roads,

From city streets,

In buses,

In cars,

On foot,

But always we return to knowledge.

What Goes Into the Mind

We are students:

Signers of last name first; receivers of desk, pen, examination;
Advisers' adopted prodigies, buyers of the S.O.;
Transporters of books; masters of diplomacy; and searchers —
Searchers of companionship, inspiration,
meaning,
ourselves.

We are sophomores, following our carefully memorized route to classes;

Juniors, seeking out school's extra life;

Seniors, looking toward the future — and wondering.

School is

New classes,
new teachers,
new contacts,
new achievements . . .

. . . a between class chat,
a touchdown pass,
buddies,
studies,
club meetings,
the theme that took a beating,
a different point of view,
and always something to do.

Comes Out In Life

Always something new . . .

to set us reaching, stretching toward that wonderful moment when perception blooms —

a new horizon greets us.

Giesecke Sets New Tempo at A.H.H.S.

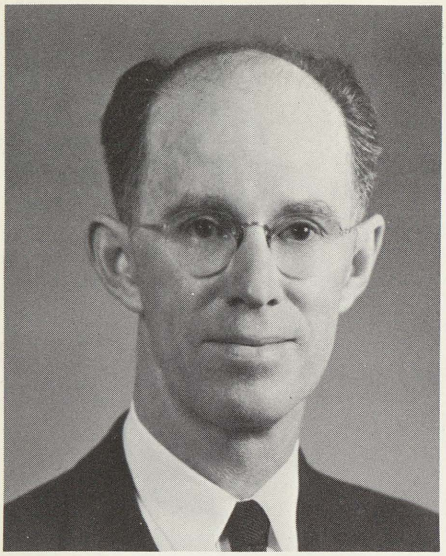

This year, the mathematics department's loss has been the entire high school's gain. Mr. Harold W. Giesecke, a mathematics teacher here since 1949 and a counselor since the guidance program was initiated in 1956, has now taken over the principal's chair at Arthur Hill. Officially taking office on July first of 1962, Mr. Giesecke's appointment was disclosed to the students the preceding January.

Born in Sheboygan, Wisconsin, on August 8, 1913, Mr. Giesecke obtained a bachelor of science degree from the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee in 1939 and his masters degree from DePaul University in 1957. During his college years he was initiated into Delta Chi Sigma, an honors fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega, for national service, and Kappa Delta Phi, a national honors education fraternity.

Mr. Giesecke's teaching career, which began at Bensenville Community High School in Bensenville, Illinois, was interrupted by service in the navy during World War II. He returned to Bensenville in 1946 and in 1949 came to Arthur Hill to serve as head of the mathematics department.

Our new principal is a family man with a wife and three daughters. Lisa, 8, attends Handley, Mary is a senior at Arthur Hill, and Paula is now Mrs. Harold Wurtzel.

Harold W. Giesecke brings Arthur Hill a fresh outlook as well as a wide background in teaching and leadership. We hope that there will be many happy and fulfilling years ahead of him as principal of this school.

One of the busiest offices in our school is the guidance center. Here students seeking advice in making decisions on colleges, careers, and other problems may consult counselors for help. Since more and more students are going to college every year, the counselors are kept busy arranging and supervising testing programs. College and career interviews must also be carefully planned by the student and counselor. Help is given to students and parents alike to assist them in becoming better acquainted with the educational system and its function. The pathway to the future may be made straighter by a few minutes of conscientious planning with one of our counselors.

Many important details in school management handled by the secretaries provide an essential part of each day's program. Keeping records up to date and helping to plan the school's busy schedule are among their many duties.

"Soup's on" is the familiar cry the cafeteria workers give at noon to the students and faculty. While we have only "one" lunch period to worry about, the cooks have two. Preparing food for 2300 students is a gigantic job.

Keeping the grounds and building neat, clean, and in good repair and supervising maintenance of school equipment are the jobs of the custodians. These men are the most sought-for people in the school at the time of an emergency, and they promptly and willingly do their best to keep the school running smoothly. These staffs give indispensable service.

Oldest Science

Mathematics may be defined as the subject in which we never know what we are talking about, nor whether what we are saying is true — Bertrand Russell.

Aside from being amusing, this statement sums up what the mathematically-inclined student begins to realize as he emerges from the secure cocoon of elementary education and begins to see for the first time the bright vistas of human knowledge. Almost any subject can be expressed in a logical manner, and mathematics is nothing other than an extremely detailed subdivision of logic. The subjects taught at Arthur Hill, however, concern mostly those two non-entities, "point" and "number," which are never very far apart. The former is the meat of geometry, the study of the relation of "point" or "number." Neither do we know if God were asked whether all these unknowns truly describe His world He would answer yes or no. Perhaps this is what Lord Russell meant.

MATHEMATICS DEVELOPES LOGIC AND ACCURACY. Mr. Armin Mesker points out the best method to use in solving an algebraic equation.

"AH, YOU AGREE?" In presenting an informal speech, Gary Butler creates a relaxed atmosphere for his audience.

As communication today rapidly becomes more oral, students must learn to handle speaking situations in a natural and confident manner. Public speaking and debate classes are designed to meet the daily crises that our increasing social and business worlds impose upon its citizens.

Practical experience is gained in pubilc speaking through speeches addressed to the class on a wide variety of topics. Group discussions and debates broaden this experience.

Debaters, arguing the value of a common market for the western hemisphere, battle for statewide recognition. Forensics consists of spring speech activities.

Among debators who received superior ratings in Valley competition early in the year were Gloria Albrecht, Marshall Chamberlin, Susan Cooper, Brady Denton, Donna Graham, Constance Hall, Thomas Karow, Karen Kerr, Patricia Martin, Priscilla Martin, Thomas C. Miller, Randall Schuler, and David Wright.

"Under the co-operative training plan, school and business are partners in educating youth for successful business careers."

— Raymond Hartman —

Thus, vocational as well as scholastic needs of the student are provided by Arthur Hill's program. The three classifications of this program are salesmanship, business training, and office training. But co-operative training does not only prepare the student for future employment. It also helps him to get along with other people, assists him in obtaining a diversified education, and supplies incentive to learn and apply learning.

Some co-op students are permitted to leave school early so that they may go to their jobs. Others have jobs after school or on weekends.

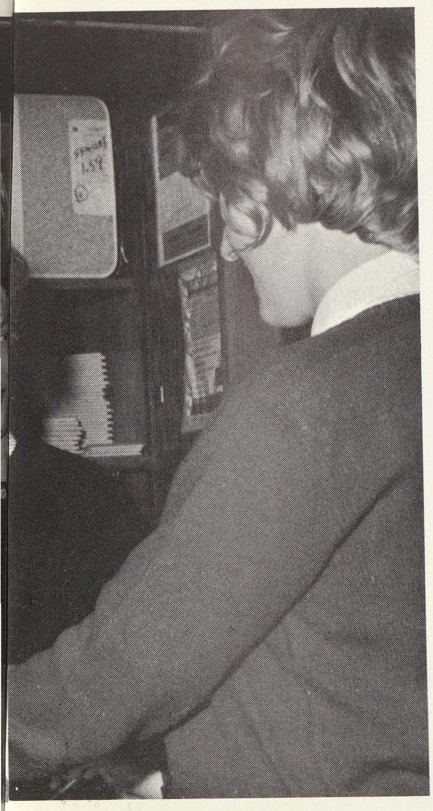

The student store also provides opportunity for the student to gain experience as a salesman. This is especially valuable for those who cannot work after school. The student store also benefits the Hillite in that he can get his paper, pencils, and notebooks right at school without extra effort.

Industrial arts provides opportunities to explore, identify, and develop occupational interests through study and experiences of planning, experimentation, and construction, and to better understand and appreciate our industrial culture.

Classes are offered in mechanical and architectural drawing, metal shop, and woodworking shop.

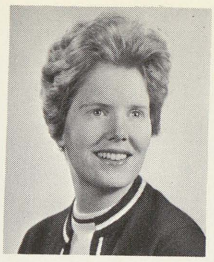

Drawing is a graphic presentation of ideas and is an essential part of all manufacturing and building occupations.

Metal working gives the student not only an opportunity to explore many of the basic areas concerned with the production and fabrication of metal products, but an understanding of the influence of machine tools in our industrial society.

Woodworking includes experiences in construction problems, skillful use of hand and machine tools, as well as related information including occupational opportunities.

English is a catalyst that brings into clear perspective the meaning, the importance, the relationship, and the beauty of all other courses — Frances Hamlin.

Each year the door to good literature is opened for students through the required reading of Macbeth, Silas Marner, Walden, Hamlet, or The Gold Bug.

The library provides the most inspiring as well as the most practical reading material to cover all tastes and requirements from Shirer's Rise and Fall of the Third Riech to Thurber's Thurber's Carnival. The librarians as well as the card catalogue assist in helping students find those books which will be read either for enjoyment of requirement.

Skill in communicating ideas is developed through comprehensive reading, written and oral composition, and vocabulary study. Knowledge of good English grammar must be accumulated throughout the years. Never does it cease to be learned.

Languages Offer

OH, NOW I SEE — Dawning comprehension lights Sue Decker's face.

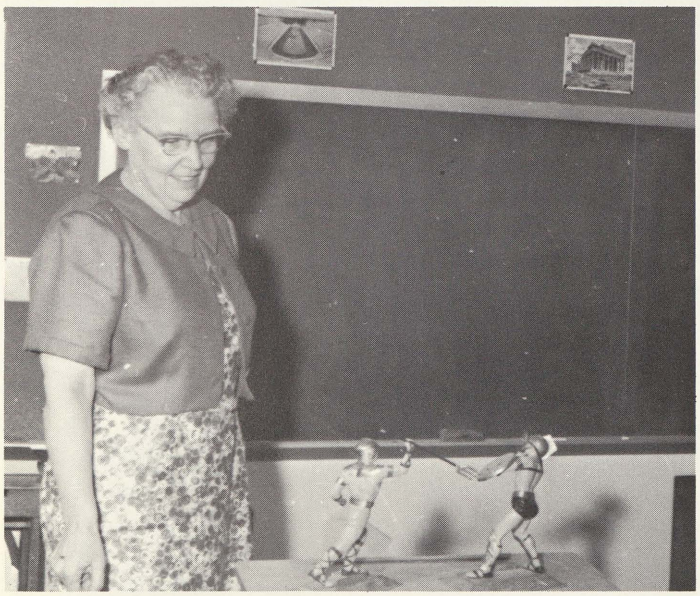

Language studies open new vistas for students in making the Hillite realize how people in other lands think. New ideas are always welcomed at Arthur Hill, and it is in language that many of these new ideas are found. All of the language classes aid the student in his English grammar and vocabulary, therefore the benefit of taking a language is twofold.

Learning to think in a language is just as important as learning to translate it. The language laboratory is a great help in this pursuit. French, Spanish, and German pupils have their language classes in the lab once a week; there they practice listening comprehension and pronunciation. Latin students do not use the language lab as yet, but they also stress the correct accent as well as the actual translation of Latin masters such as Virgil and Cicero.

Sciences Rotate About Mathematical Axis

WATCH THAT STOPCOCK! — Experimenting with the first chemistry laboratory exercise, Diane Peelle finds the density of on milliliter of water.

Symmetry of biology, unknowns of chemistry and the functions of physics are the mathematical bases of the science curricula.

The new biology stresses cause as well as effect. Long an observational task, biology has received new impetus from the discovery of nucleic acids, thought to be the key to inheritance. Though the classification of plants and animals is still taught thoroughly, students receive some exposure to such chemical and medical puzzles.

Modern applications of physics have made it the most spectacular science of the last twenty-five years. Students enrolled in Arthur Hill classes study the fundamental laws of matter and energy which describe engineering marvels.

The mathematical discipline of physics combined with a welter of glassware form chemistry; "wet physics." Students are now exposed to the complicated reasons for chemical behavior.

VICTIM TO THE THIRST OF THE UNKNOWN — The opportunity to uncover the unknown is presented biology students through special early morning classes. Finding that minute organ is the objective of Janet Wallace as she delves into the mysteries of her specimen, a foetal pig.

= Deadlines!

For the Legenda staff, every day is a hectic one. There is always a deadline impending with copy that must be written and pictures that must be taken. Sixth and seventh hours seem to fly past as staff members pound typewriters and copy editors wield red pencils. Often the lights of room 120 burn far into the night in order that necessary pages may be sent to the publishers on time. Photographers snap their camera shutters repeatedly. No phase of school life is safe from the photographer or Legenda reporter. After each deadline is met, there is a general feeling that now we can relax. But there can be no relaxation as long as a single deadline remains. At last the final deadline is met, all the pages are in, and the Legenda is in the hands of the publisher. Finally, the culmination, the end product, arrives. The proud day that the Legendas are distributed is enough reward for any staff member.

AMUSING NEWS? — Evidently reading the jokes, Jim Reminsnyder chuckles to himself.

History Is a Survey of Human Behavior

Social science classes, required or elective, are Arthur Hill's way of making the Hillite of today the wise citizen and voter of tomorrow. History, far from being the study of dead people and dead ideas, is the means by which we learn of past mistakes and successes. This knowledge should aid us to avoid making the same mistakes in the years to come when we make the decisions. Students in geography explore the nature of the earth, stressing the characteristic topography of different countries and the geological features contained on this planet. Economics explains the system under which we live. It can be helpful to students planning to enter the banking or merchandizing world, and, for that matter, to any student entering the business world. American government, while it is part the history of our country, emphasizes the formation and the structure of our government. This class explains the intricate workings of our democracy, of which the citizens of the United States are such an integral part. All of the social science studies hope to turn out well-informed citizens to take over this country in the future.

Circulation of a paper is a good measure of its success. If this be true the Arthur Hill News deserves the praise of all Hillites. Though copies are given only to those with Student Organization tickets, each issue reaches almost everyone in the school, passed from hand to hand or borrowed. Often it's found in the hands of parents or friends.

Members of the News staff share readers' enthusiasm, even though their work often involves long hours before a typewriter or tedious research. These future journalists give various reasons for their perseverance, such as the desire to meet people and learn more about them, the urge to set one's opinions down on paper, and wanting to sharpen writing skills. Still, the most important reason is the thrill the writer experiences when he sees his work in print.

President Kennedy recently asked our nation's schools to stress physical fitness. Arthur Hill is doing this in its physical education program. Among the many sports students enjoy are baseball, basketball, swimming, volleyball, and badminton. There is also a period of exercising included in the year's program. All of these sports aim to make the student healthy both mentally and physically and to encourage sportsmanship and fair play.

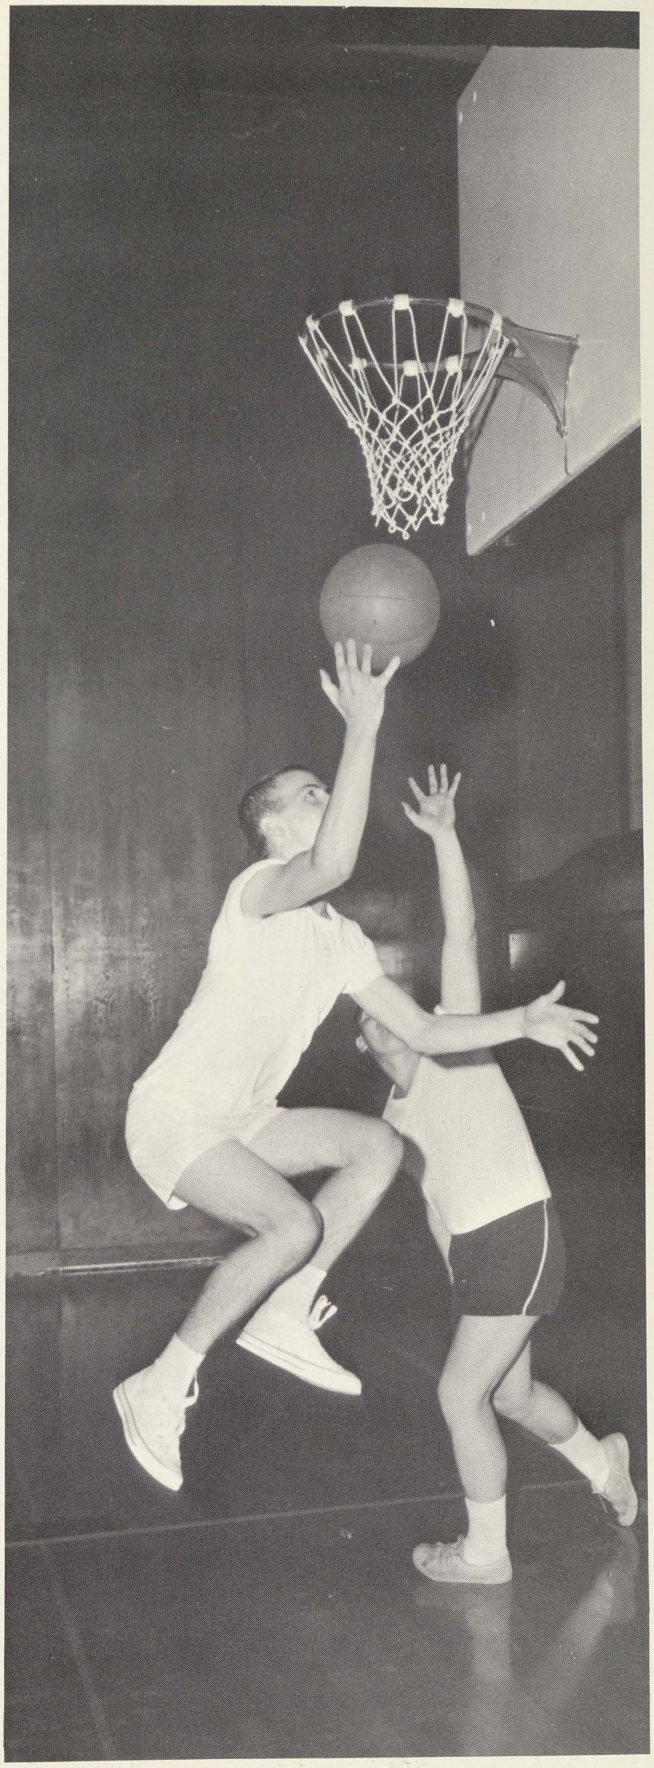

"Gee, it's so big!" wails many a sophomore when he first attends Arthur Hill. One of the main purposes of guidance classes is to help orient such students during their first few weeks at Arthur Hill. However, this is not all the guidance classes accomplish. Students are shown how to apply for a job and are given many pointers on the subject. There are also several standardized tests each sophomore takes through guidance class. Among these are the Kuder Preference Inventory, showing the student's prime interests, and Differential Aptitude Tests, measuring the student's ability in these fields. Through these, Hillites learn what jobs they are best suited for and what work they would like best. Guidance classes assist the student in finding his niche in life.

Homemakers Learn Gracious Living

Homemaking classes train future homemakers by establishing values, by promoting physical, mental and social growth, and by providing experiences in the basic skills of family living. Home nursing and first aid are also included in the curriculum.

Homemaking is taught in well equipped kitchens and sewing laboratories. Good nutrition, well-balanced diet, and the secret of making appetizing dishes are taught. Preparation of food for the freezer and the canning of jams and jellies are learned by the students in cooking class.

The latest fashions are the aim of each student seamstress. How to read a pattern, purchase fabrics, and use a sewing machine are skills acquired by the style conscious.

Each student looks forward to the day when he completes driver education. Each detail taught is of great importance to the safety of the future driver.

Behind the wheel training gives those students who have previously completed studying the text book on the mechanics and functions of the automobile the opportunity to apply their accumulated knowledge.

Nothing is left to chance. The basic parts of a car, all traffic regulations, license procedures, courtesy in driving and the process by which a tire is changed all must be learned by each student to obtain his license when he is eligible.

DO-RE-MI — Royce Oswald and Gary Salvner add spirit to the a cappella choir.

Singing under the direction of Arthur Hill's new music teacher, Mr. Millard Thomson, the a cappella and girls' choirs have performed at the Christmas Pageant, the spring vocal concert, and the Band Bounce.

In addition to singing, the choir classes are acquainted with the fundamentals of music such as reading music, timing, and interpreting the feelings of songs.

The annual candy sale sponsored by the Arthur Hill choir classes was used to send talented students to the National Music Camp at Interlochen and to purchase new music equipment. Last year three students David Satchell, Thomas Kuker and Barbara Hales attended Interlochen on Arthur Hill scholarships. Thomas Kuker honored Arthur Hill by winning the National Scholarship which entitles him to eight weeks at Interlochen next summer.

"Art classes strive to develop within the individual an awareness of his environment and to encourage him to interpret what he sees and how he feels about it," says Mrs. Carol Wylie, Arthur Hill's new art teacher. Art classes serve students interested in art as a vocation and those who enjoy creative work for their own personal satisfaction.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Wylie and Mr. Mitchell, general art classes execute their imaginations and interpretations in painting and in sculpturing. During the Christmas season emphasis is placed on Christmas ornaments and decorations. Commercial art students study how to persuade through color and form. The students work on posters and package designs, and newspaper and magazine layouts to learn silent selling techniques. The Poppy Contest, National Red Cross, and the Safety Poster Contests draw many Arthur Hill contestants seeking honors and prizes.

Throughout the course students are encouraged to work in the field in which they are most interested.

+ Percussion = Concert Band

"Sometimes I think that even if I didn't like football I'd still come to the games just to hear the band." So said an old grad during half-time this fall, rain-water dripping from his hat-rim. He expressed the feelings of all the weather-beaten Hillites inspired and encouraged throughout the season by the Arthur Hill marching band. Music for all kinds of programs during the school year is provided almost entirely by this group and the orchestra, both directed by Mr. Robert Clark.

Yet the band's true function includes neither the playing field nor the concert stage. Throughout the year classes study music varying from Johann Sebastian Bach to Meredith Wilson, covering most of Western civilization's musical heritage. This gives students a wide aesthetic background, just as history provides a wide background in the humanities.

ALVIN RADER concentrates on his music while playing the trombone.

According to Webster, an orchestra is a "band of performers on various instruments, including especially those of the viol class, adapted by rendering symphonies, overtures, etc." It is more than this. It is an effort to do something magnificent together.

In an orchestra the musician who plays only three bars in a hundred knows that he is just as important as his director if the group is going to achieve a single effect, something the orchestra cannot get unless strings and wood-winds, percussion and brasses, are all there together at the right time. Yet, the musician realizes that the skill of the conductor brings them to this place. And there is a third party. An orchestra depends upon a good audience willing to listen — and enjoy.

Responsible for producing all dramatic functions is Arthur Hill's Arts-Dramatics Club. Its members not only perform in the plays, but also take charge of props, programs, and behind-stage activities. Their first presentation was a comedy, Onions In The Stew. Directing the play were Mrs. Lorene Bishop and John Pickelman. The main cast included Jeanne Gobble, Barry Godwin, Dianna Green, Dianne Reeder, Dan Spaulding and Matt Beach.

The annual dramatic competition between the sophomore, junior, and senior classes was held February 28. Miss Hajar Busaid was the teacher sponsor. The junior play, The Highway, under the direction of Tom Malone, was awarded the best play trophy. Sham was the sophomore play, directed by Matt Beach. John Pickelman directed the senior play, The Marriage Proposal. Best actor and actress trophies were awarded to Dan Spaulding and Christine List.

THE McDONALD FAMILY from Onions In The Stew, was played by Dianna Green, Dianne Reeder, Jeanne Gobble, and Barry Goodwin.

Seniors

New Horizons Unlimited

Future — It is the password of seniors. As the sun peeks above the horizon, we realize we are still at dawn. Our stream is entering the river which soon swells to an ocean. In order to survive, we have been given the tools of knowledge and the seed of experience. We will strive to keep our faces to the sun, the shadows always behind us. Be it good or bad, our luck will be only what we make it. The world awaits our efforts — for they determine our future.

Student Life

New Horizons of Awareness

"O Wonderful, Wonderful, and Most Wonderful Wonderful! And Yet Again Wonderful . . ."

William Shakespeare

We came ultimately to study, but tedious is that way. Study remains valuable only when its tedium is relieved. Just as we come to school for study, we return for diversion. As a result of attending those crowded basketball games, parading the halls campaigning for the sale of S.O. tickets, and observing the momentous occasion of homecoming, we also learn what books cannot teach. Much of life can be learned only by living.

We came to learn through books. To study well we must have something to vary from the grind. An occasional safari from this study barrier reaps additional learning, that of life.

Look Closely, There's a Twinkle in Her Eye

Perhaps one of America's best-known institutions is the coronation of a high school football queen. Arthur Hill's Homecoming is no exception. It includes all the excitement of a presidential election plus the pomp and circumstance of a monarch's coronation. The members of the court are found in a variety of places. Mrs. Marguerite Engle insists that they almost always come from her science classes. On the contrary, says Mr. Greuber, his cheerleaders contribute most. Of course, Mr. Giesecke can claim all of them.

At any rate, the sight of Queen Nancy and her court inspired Coach Hi Becker's Lumberjacks, for they roared onto the field to stomp Muskegon Catholic Central, 25—6.

All in all, the day was a tribute to the Homecoming committee: chairman, David Wright, Timothy Houlihan, Nancy Staples, David Burzyck, Onalee Reeve, and Jeanne Gobble.

Boys Post More

Bewildered sophomores stood open-mouthed as the 1962 S.O. Campaign got under way, creating fun-making, spirited competition, and sheer hullabaloo.

True to custom, the '62 campaign pitted the girls against the boys with the party selling the lower percentage required to entertain the winner in an assembly.

Early polls of the campaign activity gave the boys a decided edge. Although indications showed the overall sales slightly down, a victory-confident block of boys in the Student Cabinet defeated measures to extend the campaign.

Then came tabulation day. Students kept an hourly account of the tabulation. Always the boys remained two or three votes ahead.

When the public address announcement started that day, masculine torsos straightened in their chairs. Yes, the boys had truly sold two more tickets, but percentage proved their downfall.

Student Cabinet Backs Millage

WILL THE FOLLOWING STUDENTS . . . requests Bill Harrison, president of Miss Norma Hile's advisory, as he reads the morning notices.

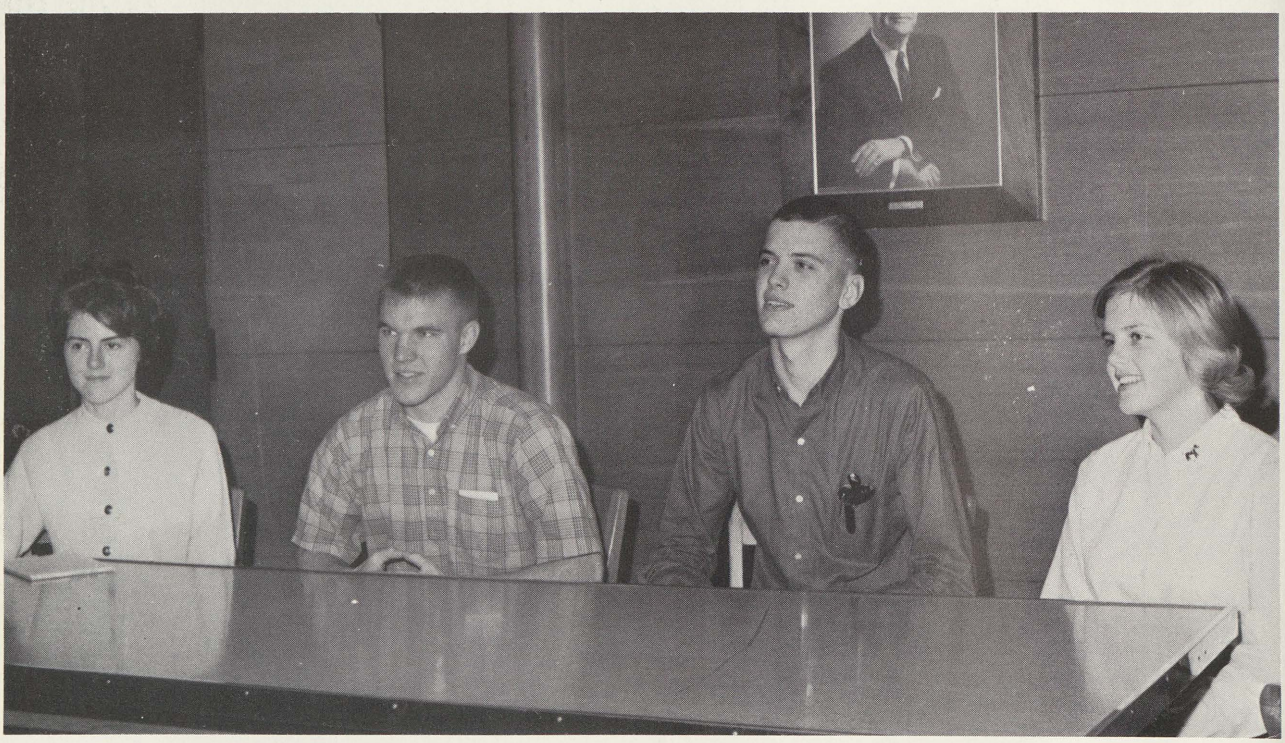

Efforts directed toward passage of a proposed school mill levy formed the basis of a successful year for the Student Cabinet. The Board of Education asked citizens to vote for a two-mill property tax, plus the transfer of one mill from the present building levy. These additional funds will be used to maintain the academic excellence of Saginaw's school system.

Projects were aimed at impressing upon parent's minds the importance of a good school system. City students signed and addressed form letters prepared by the cabinet. Saturday before the election, students at various posts in downtown and business sections distributed handbills encouraging "yes" votes. The campaign climaxed Monday evening with a parade.

Passage of the proposal reflected the voters' confidence in the school system, and expressed the citizens' wish to maintain a well-rounded, superior program of education for Saginaw. With the approval of the voters on this issue, the Student Cabinet tasted the sweet fruits of their efforts.

Other cabinet meetings were devoted to ammendments to the school constitution concerning elections, and the possibility of establishing a sister high school program with Joto High School, Tokyo, Japan.

The annual Homecoming Dance sponsored by the Student Cabinet gave alumni the chance to return to the social life of their alma mater.

STUDENT CABINET HEADS — Leading the student Cabinet this term were Jane Mason, secretary; Peter Boyse, president; Craig Dill, vice-president; Nancy Staples, treasurer.

HELP PASS THE MILLAGE! — Ken Fisher urges a Saginawian to vote "yes" on the proposed increase.

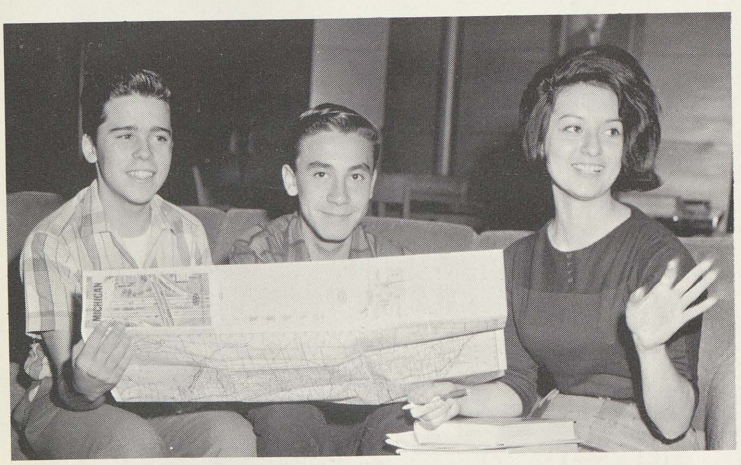

WELCOME HOME — Exchange students during the summer of 1962 were Vicki Lynar, Barry Godwin, Carol Murphy, John Braun, Janet Humpert, Ronald Doerhing, and Sarah Davis. Missing: Sue Swift.

AWAY WE GO! — Patricia Ardern, Cheri Harper, Dwight Sieggreen, Chris Brown, Anne Sharp, Mary Richardson, Phyllis Peacock, Ronald Marquis, Greer Greenberg, Diane Henne, Sally Armstrong, Randall Broadfoot, Kathleen Boissonneault, Spencer Waters, Jane Imerman, Rushia Stewart, Donna Schalk, Beth Nichol, and Jacqueline Rexius will spend the summer of 1963 abroad.

Exchange Students Explore Unfamiliar Lands

Exchange students promote understanding between nations. They find themselves at home in countries which had been foreign to them. Furthermore, they gain a new awareness and true reverence toward their native countries. Most of the students are sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches and the Christian Youth Exchange. Ten years ago the first student from Germany entered Arthur Hill. By now, Michigan is the best known state in Europe. Recently the program has been expanded to include students from Latin America and Mexico. Most American students spend two months in Europe while European students visit the United States for one year. New programs such as the winter exchange program with Mexico and the Michigan Chorale have been established to further promote good will and understanding between the nations of the world.

BUENOS DIAS! — Three students from Mexico, Guido Torres, Rudolfo Gaona, and Artemisa Gonzales, visited Arthur Hill during the winter.

HILLITES WITH ACCENTS — Herta Brueckner, Regina Alder, and Friederike Schmöhe from Germany, and Gus Burgos from Mexico studied at Arthur Hill this year.

Hillites Experience Democracy in Action

During the course of any school year, several events stand out as the more momentous occasions of student life. The athletic seasons, Homecoming, the S.O. campaign all remain in even the most nostalgic memory. Most memorious of all, however, is the hectic grandeur and legalized bedlam of election week.

One Monday morning early in spring the assault takes place. Candidates and their supporters, laden with posters and tape, converge on the school for the 7:00 A.M. opening of the campaign. When the rest of the Hillites arrive later that morning, little is recognizable about our "ivy-covered halls." A political assembly comes later in the week.

After a primary election selects the three finalist candidates for each office of president, secretary, and treasurer, regular voting machines are set up in the west hall and the winners are determined. To authenticate the democratic process, no one is at any time required to participate or even vote in the election.

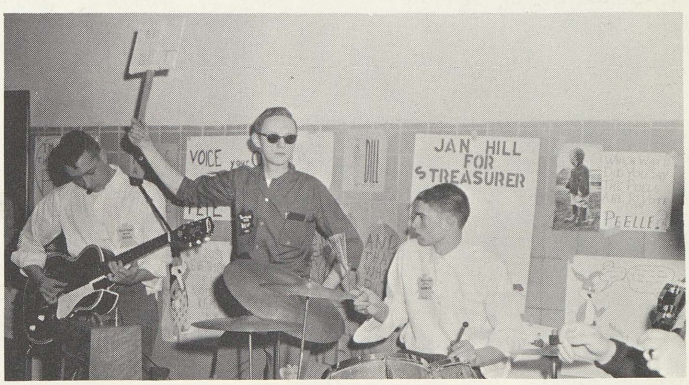

"EVERYONE ON THE TRAIN, YUM-YUM, BALLOT BOX!" In a final burst of exuberance, Carol Bell, Virginia Cox, and Valarie Ruble do a parody on "She'll be comin' Round the Mountain."

APPRECIATION FOR MASON! Exuberant supporter Nola Maturen helps whip up a storm in last spring's election assembly.

GIFTS OF THE MIKADO — Oriental campaigners Carolyn Hovis, Sue Vogel, Jan Foale, Bonnie Bearinger, Barbara Wilcox, and an unidentifiable New Year's dragon present a pro Kreuger skit.

HEY, WALLY ARE WE WORKING FOR HIM? — Neil Sproull, on the drums, registers suspicion of poster-waving supporter, who later turns out to be Jim Trier, campaigning for Connie Reeve. On the electric guitar is Wally Macomber.

PULL, BOYS, PULL — Larry Lamb, Gary Hollman and Bill Firchau were selected from the audience to test the strength of a new adhesive during a demonstration assembly.

Assemblies Cater to Varied Tastes

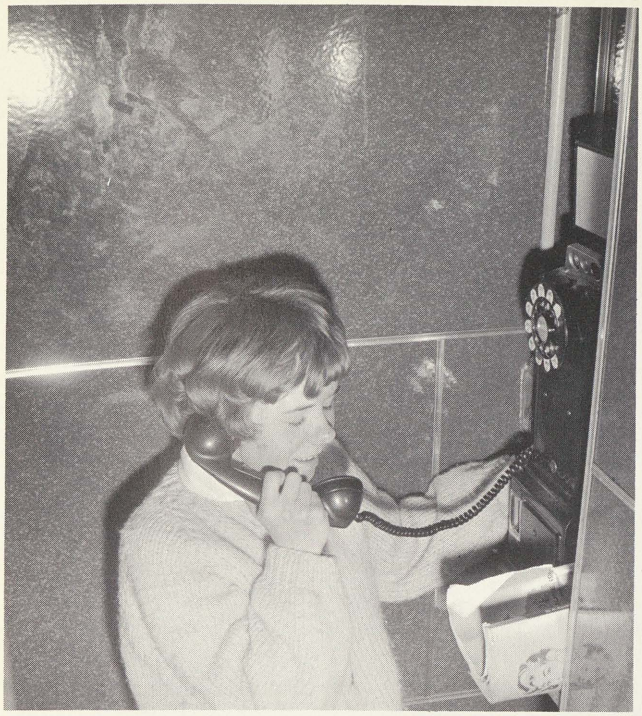

Assemblies appeal to a wide range of personalities and tastes. There were the demonstrations of the public relations group from NASA, the humor of the S.O. assembly, the sentimentality of Homecoming, and the exuberance of pep rallies. Yet, the one high point of the year was the assembly March 25, honoring the Lumberjack basketball team.

"IT SHOULD BLOW UP ANY SECOND NOW" — Mr. William Curry, speaker during a special assembly, is timing a new chemical substance.

THE THIRTEENTH PLAYER — Coach Hi Becker encourages Hillites to become the thirteenth player for the football team.

"I MISSED THE BUS" — Sally Armstrong makes one of those frequent calls home to find a ride.

"THAT'S OUR TEAM" — Varsity cheerleader Sue Zittle cheers the Lumberjacks on to another victory.

Life Has Loveliness to Sell —

Sara Teasdale

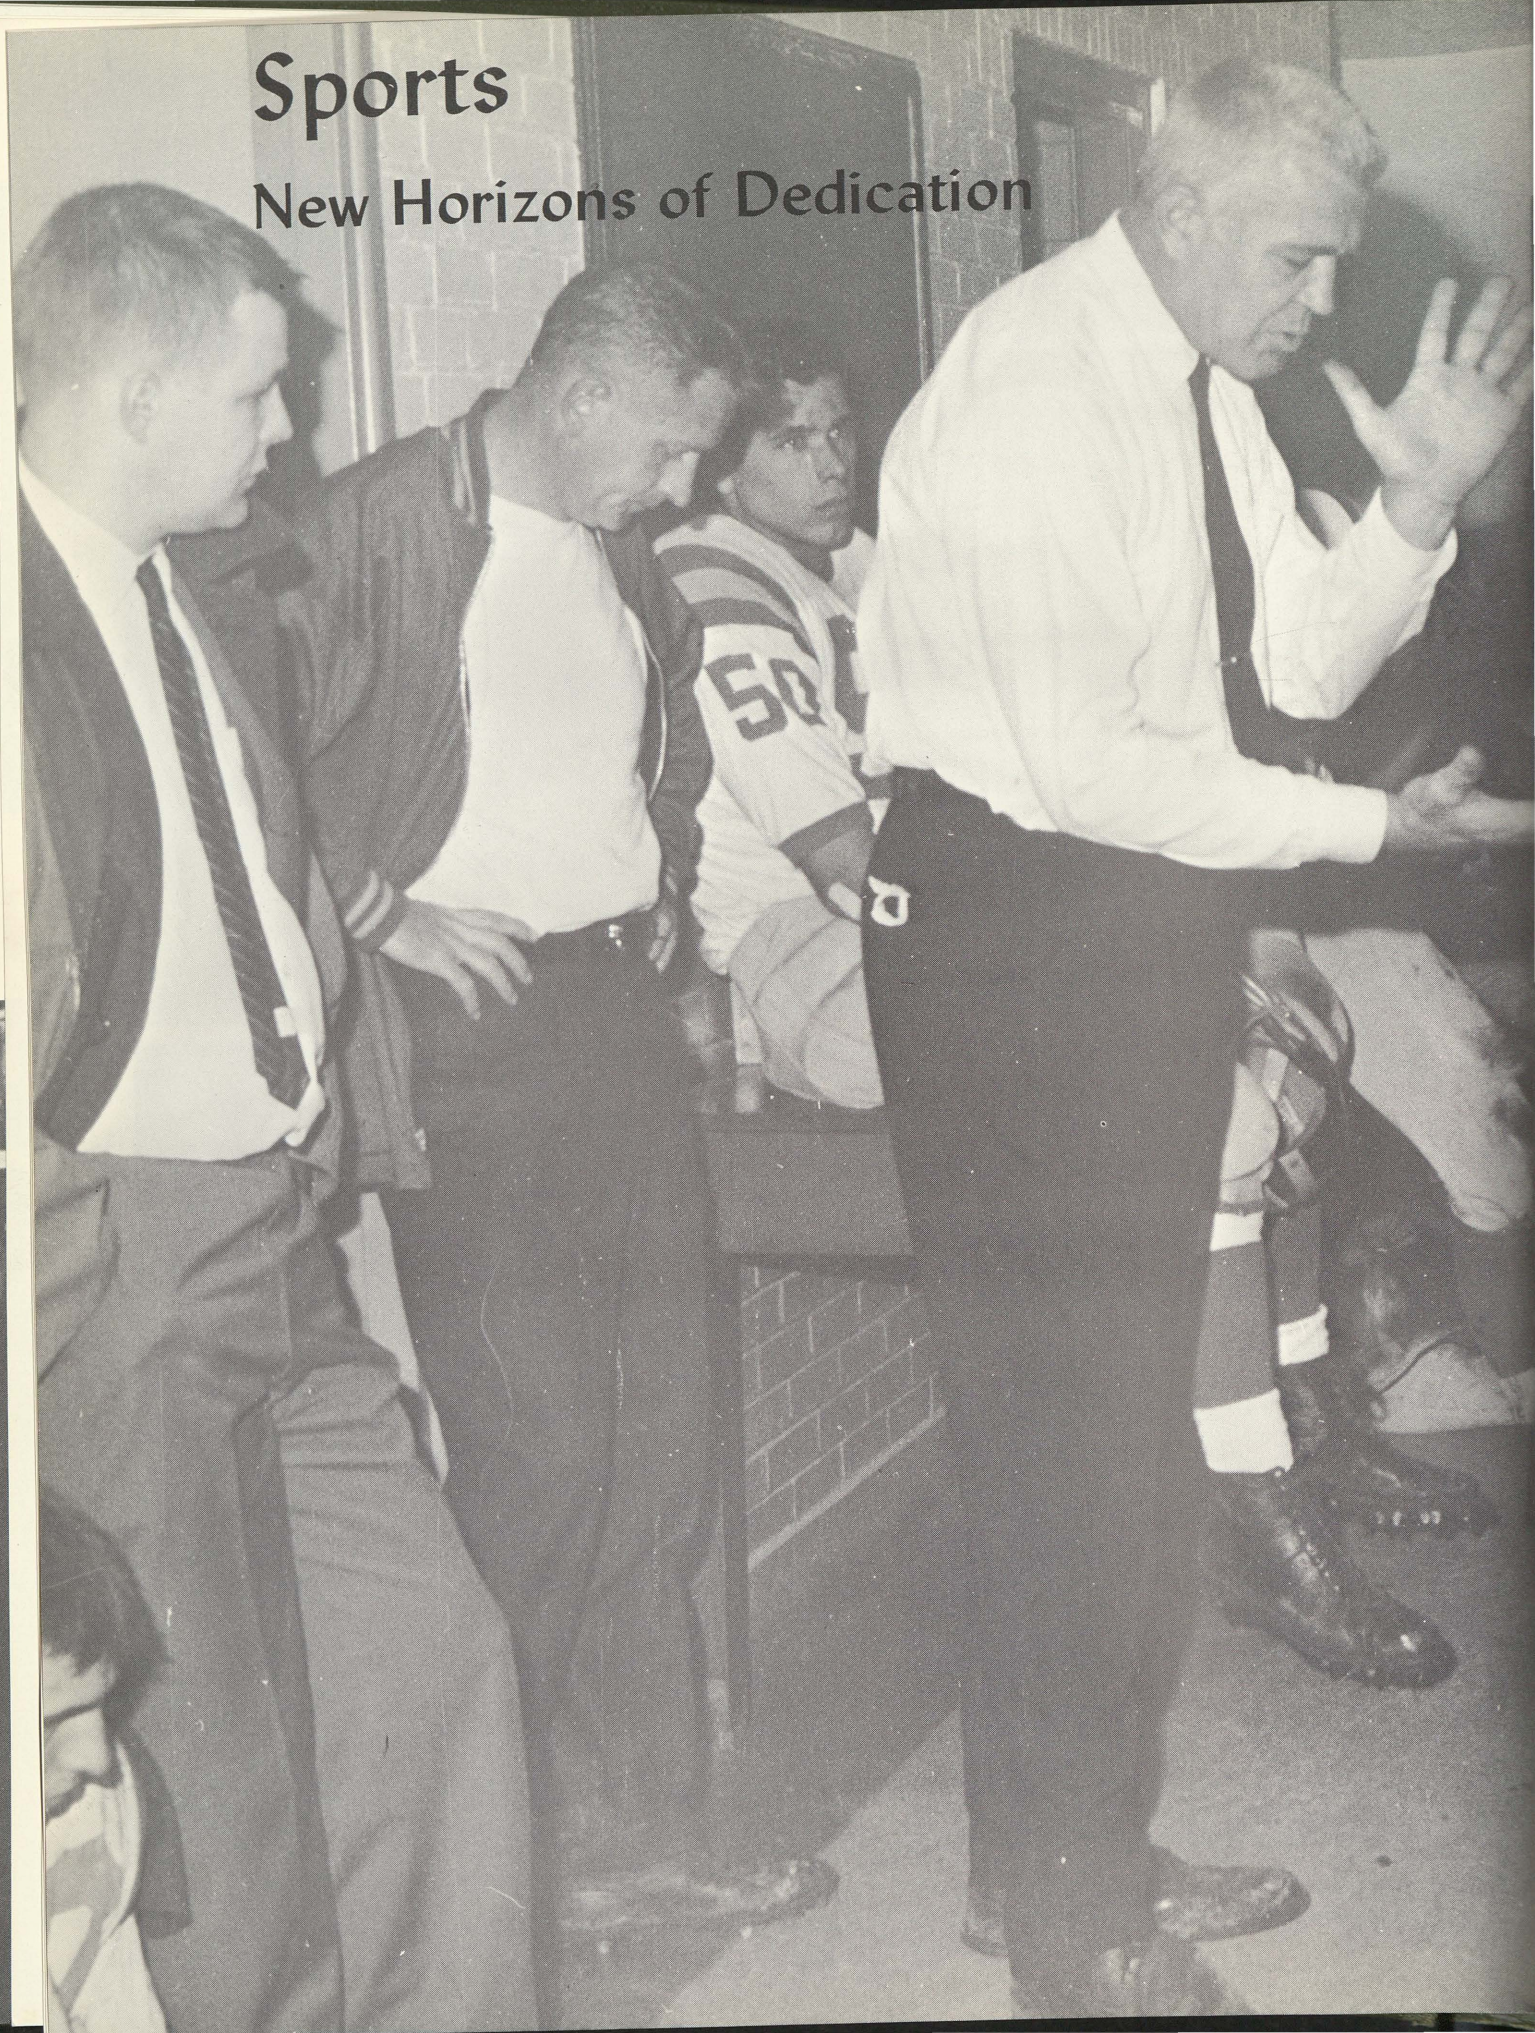

NICE LANDING — By the smile on Kathy Braun's face, falling down doesn't seem too bad at all, when you have Ed Timm and Ed Krictzs to help you up.

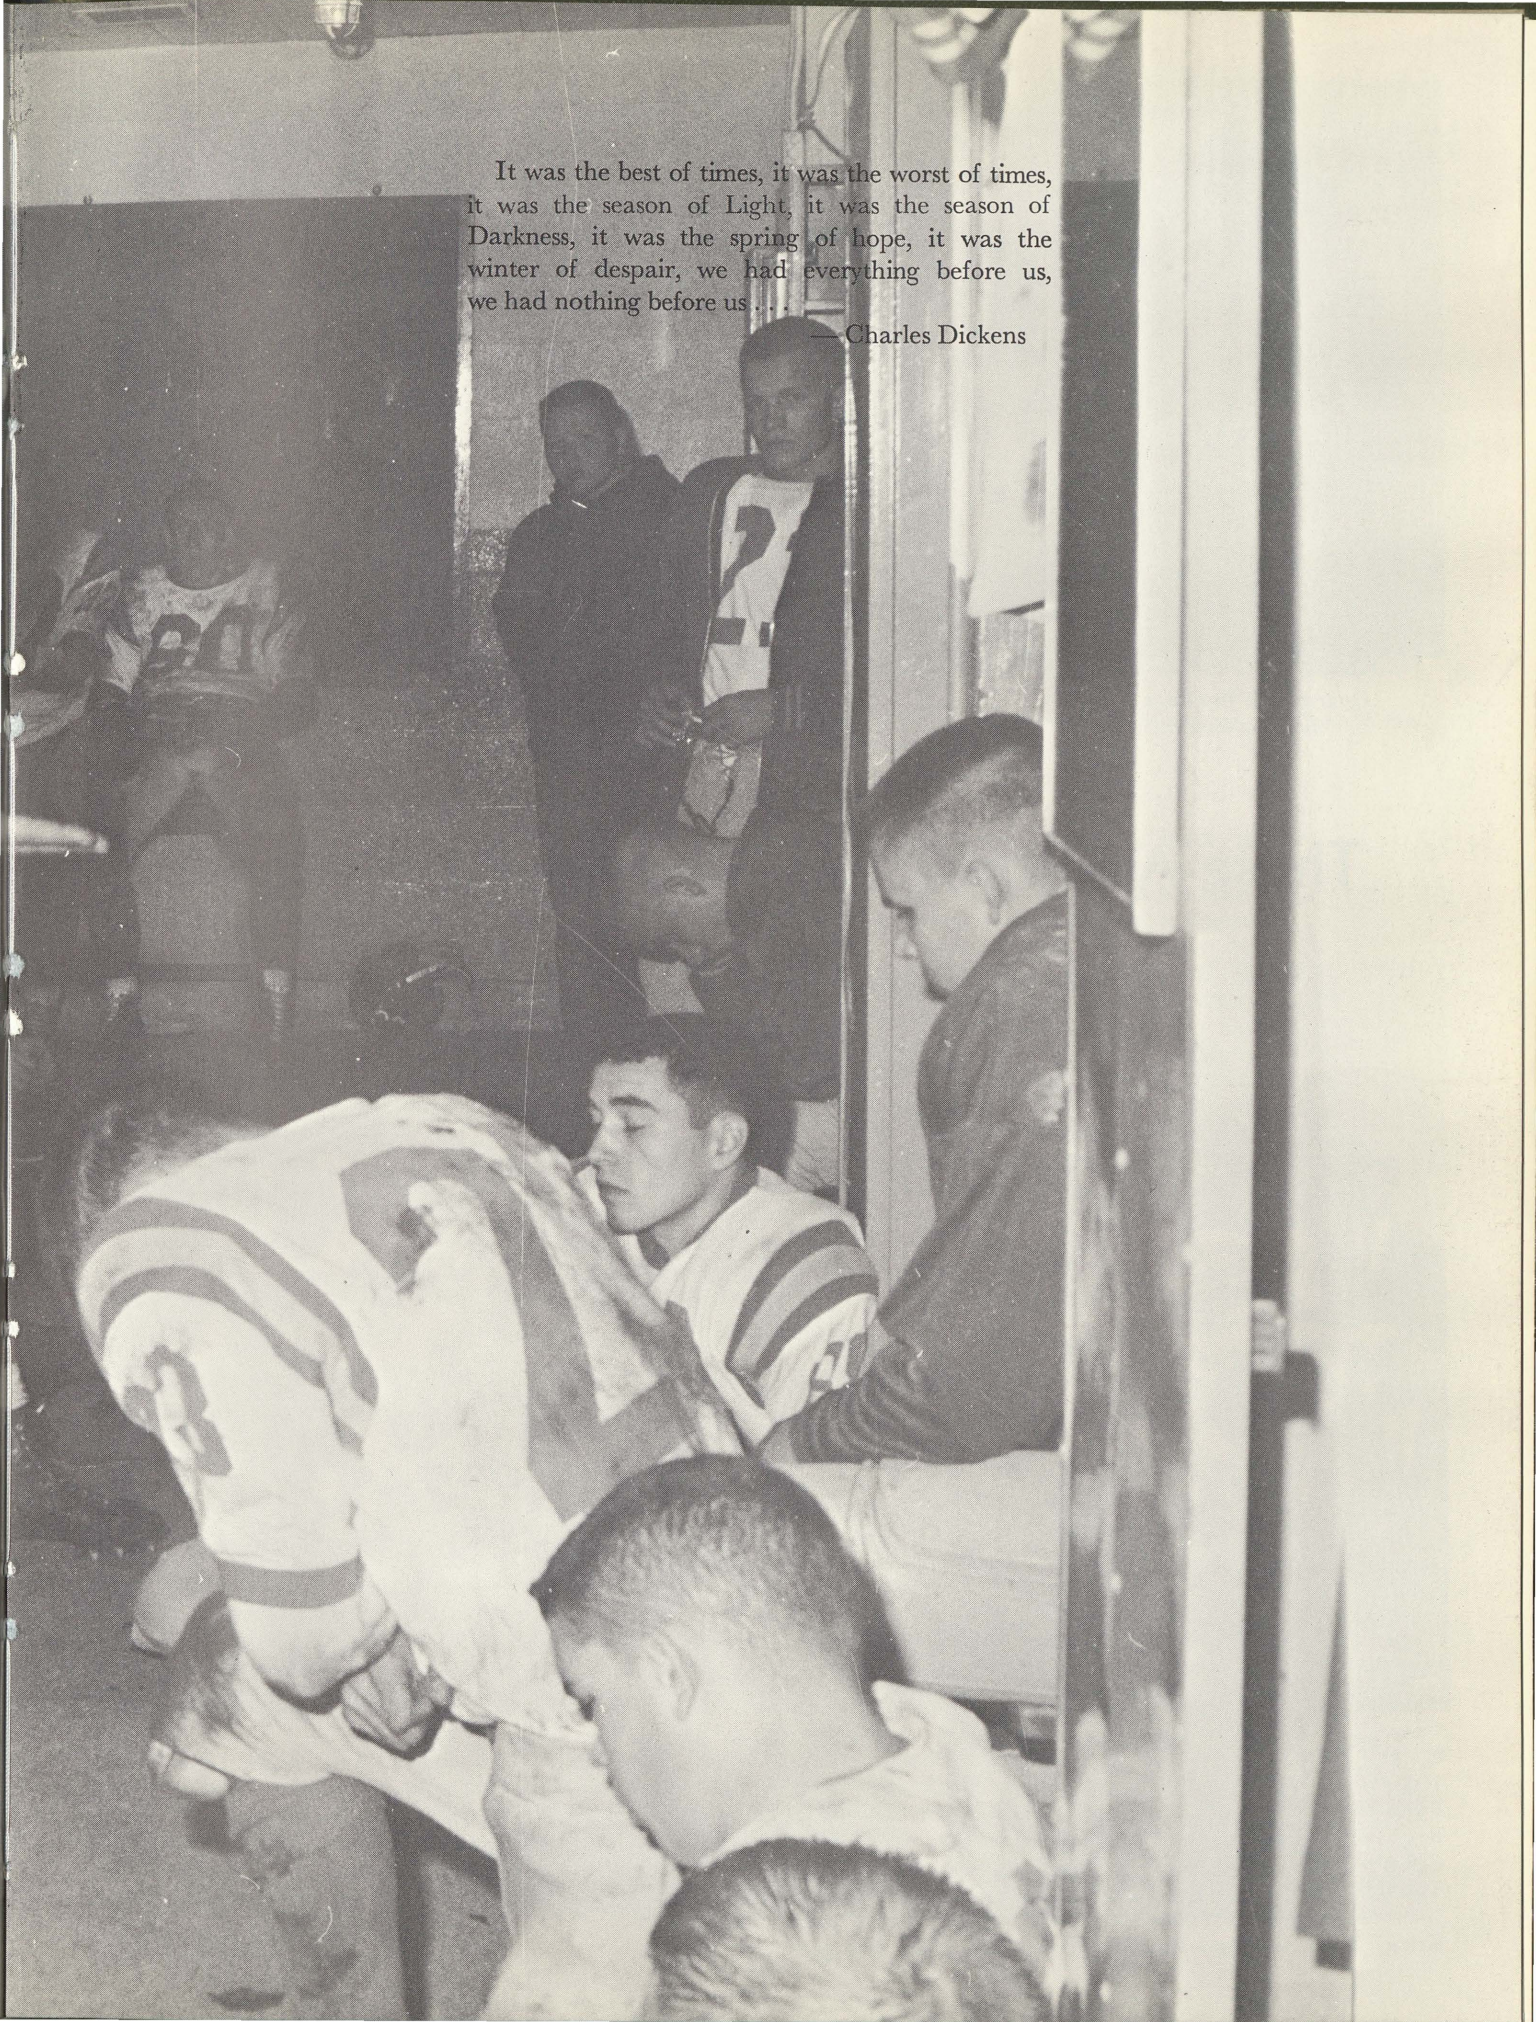

"THERE IS SOMETHING IN OCTOBER" — Sue Schutt takes a reflective walk in the woods.

New Horizons of Dedication

"THIS WILL BE OUR STRATEGY" — Coaches John McCargar and John Kring pose with Captain Ken Birch and head coach Hi Becker.

Hit, hit, hit! Be pitchers, not catchers — that is, block the opponent before he can block you. Play hard and have fun." This philosophy was stressed by head coach, Hiram Becker, to his Hillite players many times throughout the season. Coach Becker, a veteran of twenty one years of coaching experience, came to Arthur Hill just last fall. He, along with his varsity staff, consisting of line coach, John Kring, also new to Arthur Hill, and backfield coach, John McCargar, faced the tough problem of shaping a relatively inexperienced team into a precise unit.

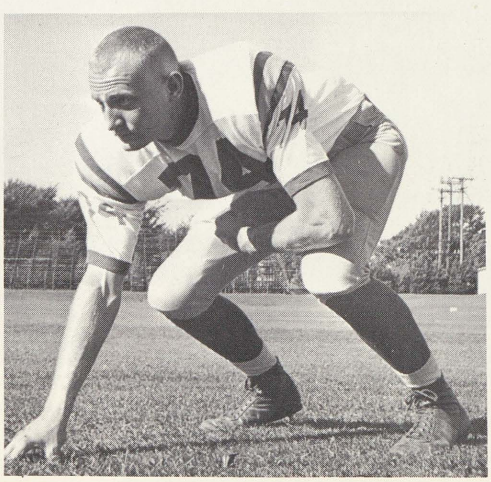

During the campaign the Lumberjacks could not find a winning combination. The team worked hard correcting its errors, but just when everything seemed perfected another problem would occur. These difficulties led to a 2—5—1 record.

The Lumberjack's one moment of glory came in the Homecoming game, as Arthur Hill soundly beat Muskegon Catholic Central, 25—6.

Hillites can look forward to a successful season next fall, however, since many juniors have received valuable game experience.

BUST THROUGH HERE! — During the games the coaches are kept busy giving instructions to the players. Here tackle Mike Booth confers with Coach John Kring.

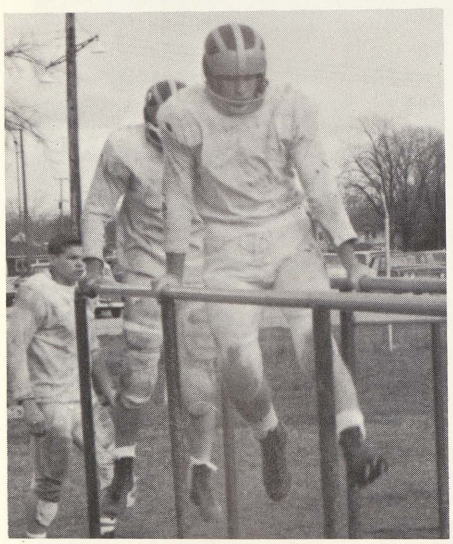

Last fall Hillite football fans watched in anguish as Arthur Hill suffered a losing season. New coach, Hiram Becker, offered no alibis. He said his players were a fine group, but that they just didn't have the extra talent required to win the rough S.V.L.

On the field Mr. Becker lived every play, his face reflecting the outcome of each maneuver. Several times, driven by anxiety, he sent his hat flying through the air.

The team, however, is looking forward to next season. Several experienced players will be returning, and members of the reserve teams, which earned a combined record of 12—4—1, will add to the depth. Better days are coming.

HIT THOSE GUYS! — Coach Becker urging his players to victory with frantic shouts and gestures was a common sight to Arthur Hill fans.

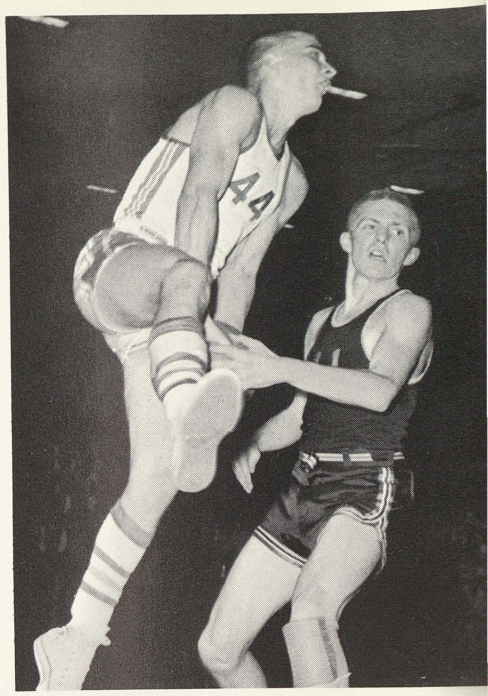

THROUGH THE BARS, FELLAS! — Parallel bars, a new addition to the practice field, helped strengthen the players.

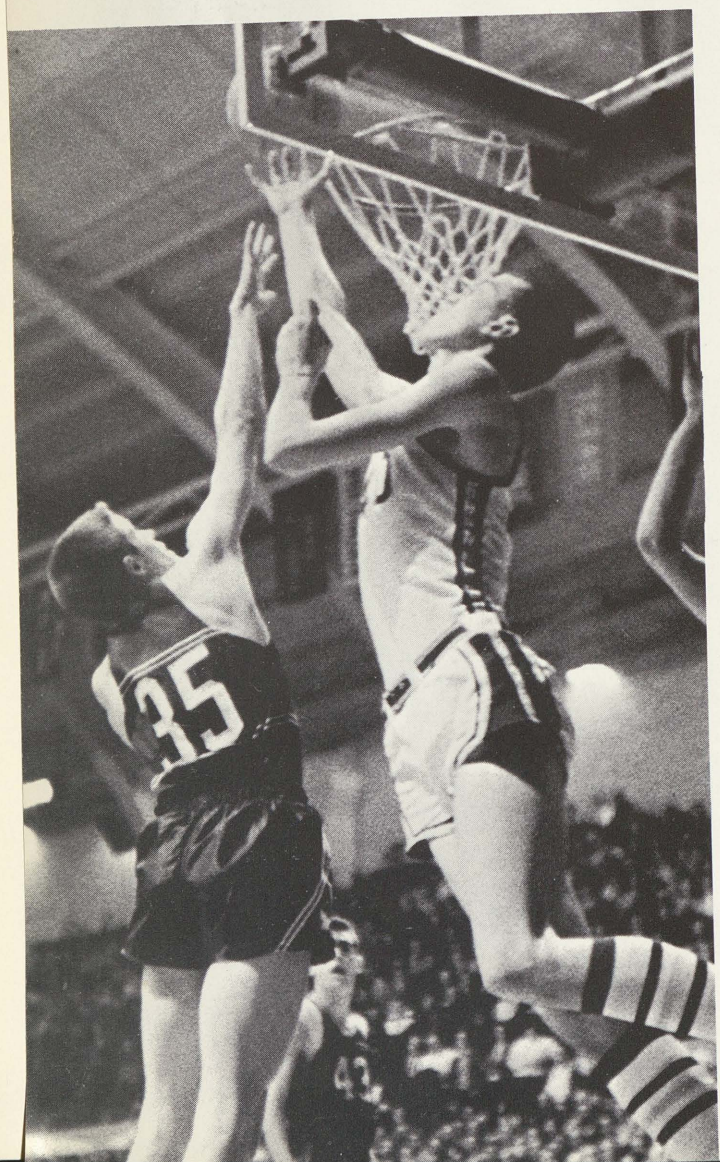

LOOK AT THAT GAP! — The expressions of Coach John McCargar, Coach Hiram Becker, and Manager Bill Weber show anguish at the way the game is going.

THE JOY OF VICTORY — Coach Chuck Fowler holds the trophy which Arthur Hill received for defeating Alpena 65—50 and Flint Central 73—49 in the Regional Tournament.

LITTLE JIM DRIVES — Jim Flora's defensive work and playmaking were keys to Arthur Hill's success. Here Jim drives past Saginaw High's Ron Wagner for a layup as the Hillites defeated their rival 74—63.

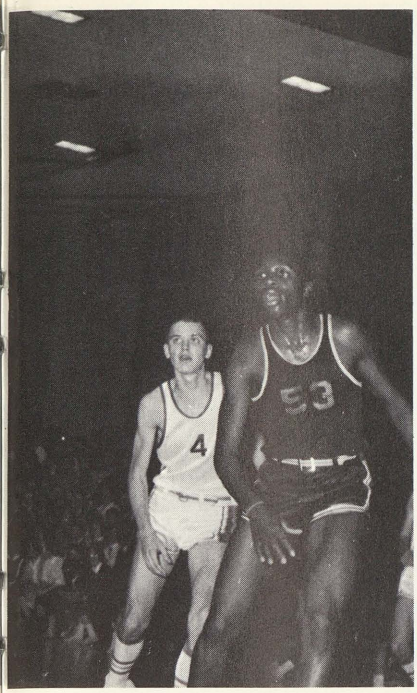

Go-Go Hillites Steal

By compiling a season record of fifteen victories without defeat, Arthur Hill won its first S.V.L. championship since 1955. During the state tournament, the Lumberjacks extended their unbeaten streak to twenty by winning district, regional, and quarterfinal playoffs. The team's hopes of a Class A state basketball title were shattered, however, by a shocking 59—58 upset by Adrian in the semi-finals.

Leading the Arthur Hill attack all season was 6-10 center Craig Dill, who set an S.V.L. record by scoring 353 points in 12 league games. For his outstanding performance, finishing with a 28.5 point average for twenty-one games, Craig was elected to the All State and SVL honor squads. Also elected to SVL honor berths were Keith Kundinger, first team, and Jim Flora, second team.

This year's cagers lacking in all-around height, were outrebounded almost two to one during many games, but the ability of the little guys, Flora, Kundinger, Tim Shoskey, Art Gelow, and Craig Schultz, overcame the disadvantage. Thus, the Lumberjacks, through Dill's scoring, through all-around skill, and through great desire, furnished Arthur Hill fans with a season to remember.

TWO MORE FOR DILL — The 6-10 All State center bags two of his 36 points during Arthur Hill's 59—58 upset by Adrian.

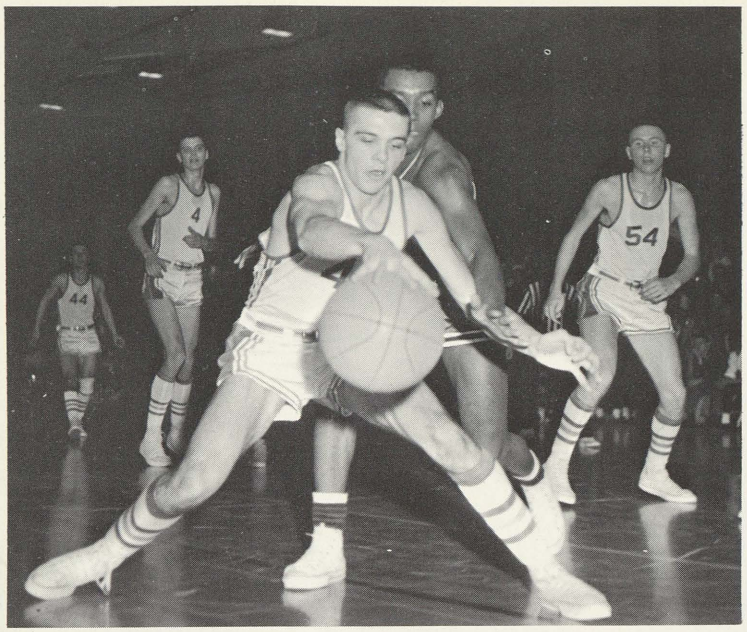

THE HEART BREAK OF DEFEAT — After Arthur Hill's stunning upset, Art Gelow is consoled by cheerleader Sue Zittel, as Bill Firchau, Connie Kreuger and Kathie Braun register the emotions of defeat.

"My Best Team Ever" — Fowler

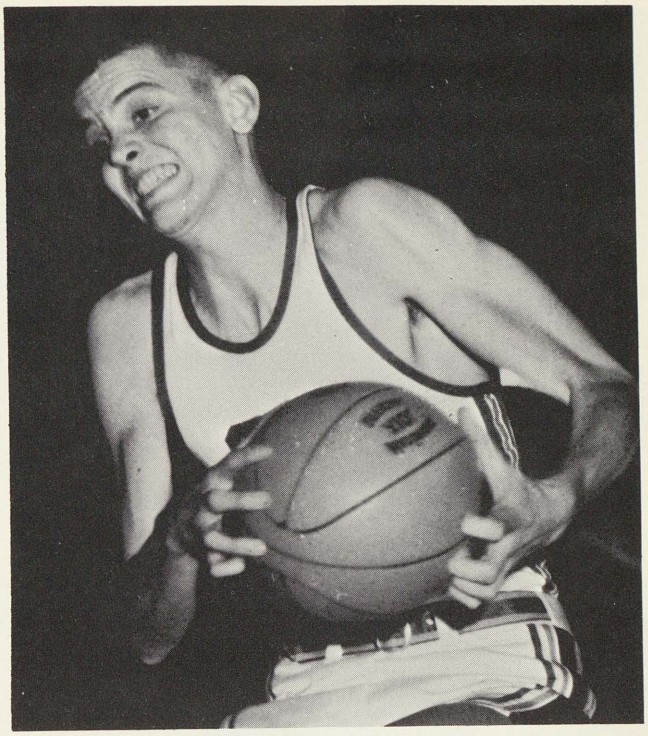

SOCCER? — No, it's just Jim Flora chasing the elusive ball.

Thrilling action, unbearable tension, and tremendous enthusiasm were characteristic of Arthur Hill's basketball season. With several contests not being decided until the closing minutes, both spectators and players were usually in a state of exhaustion when the final whistle sounded.

Pressured by the pre-season predictions of being the team to beat in the S.V.L., the Lumberjacks lost no time in achieving the rating of the second best Class A team in the state. The Hillites were led by playmaker, Jim Flora, high-scoring Craig Dill, and jump shot artist Keith Kundinger; all are three year veterans. Senior Tim Shoskey and junior Art Gelow also proved to be valuable members of the starting five. Coach Chuck Fowler considered this his best team ever.

"IT'S MY BALL" — Tim Shoskey battles two Bay City Central players for a rebound.

ANOTHER REBOUND — Whether scoring points or grabbing rebounds 6'10" Craig Dill displayed his prowess.

Hillite Tankers Again Dominate S.V.L.

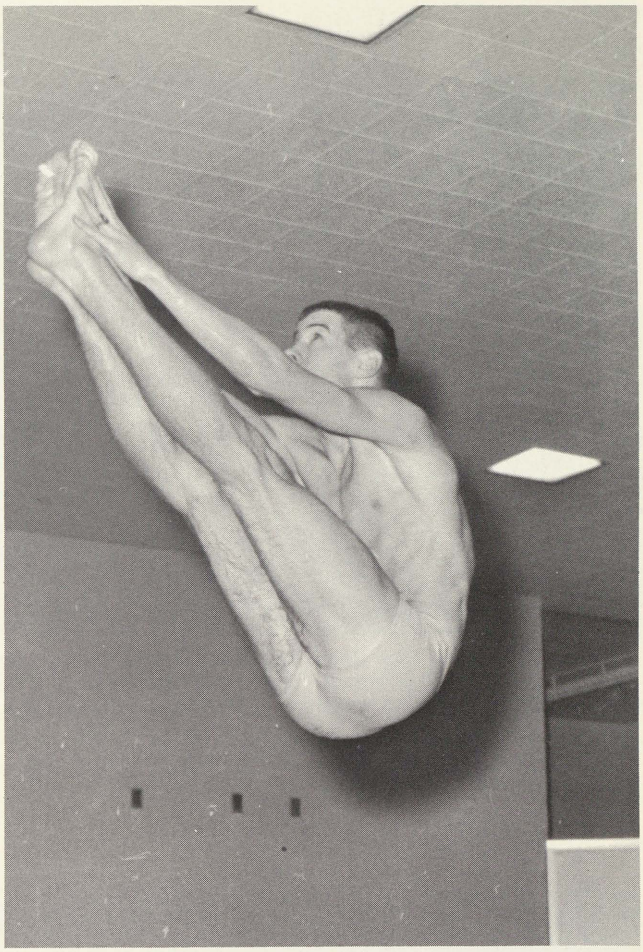

ONE, TWO AS USUAL — All season long Dave Gibson, in foreground, and John Anderson took turns placing first and second in the 50 yard and 100 yard freestyle events.

ANOTHER FIRST — During his three years as a varsity swimmer Captain Bob Stewart consistently aided the Hillite cause with his first place finishes. Here he is congratulated by an unidentified swimmer as Rick Myron looks on.

Blessed with another fine crop of swimmers, Arthur Hill captured the S.V.L. championship for the nineteenth time in twenty years. This achievement climaxed a season in which the tankers suffered only one defeat while compiling eleven victories in duel meet competition. The team also won its seventh straight Arthur Hill Invitational Relays and finished a commendable seventh out of a field of sixty-three schools in the state swimming meet.

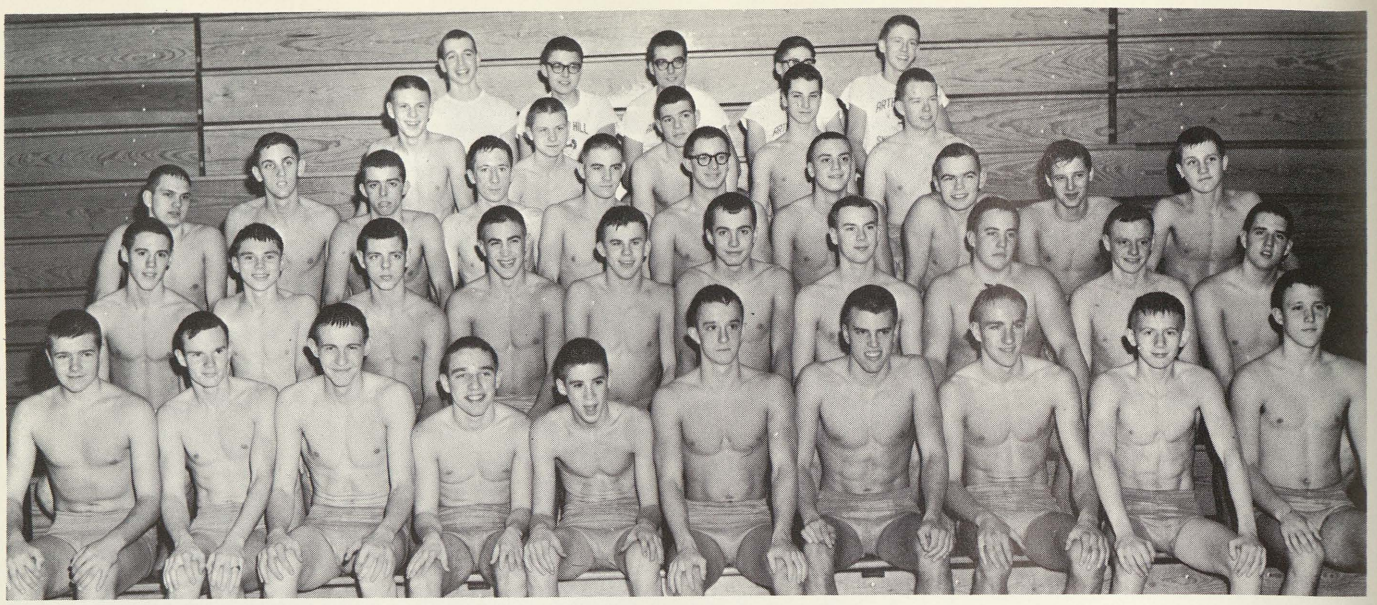

This year Coach Don Morey had several outstanding swimmers. Competing in the 100 yard butterfly, Captain Bob Stewart won the S.V.L. event and placed fourth in the state meet. Bob also set an Arthur Hill pool record of 55.8 seconds. Others taking firsts in the valley meet were Dave Gibson in the 50 yard freestyle, John Anderson in the 100 yard freestyle, Jim Krogman in the 100 yard breast stroke, and both the freestyle and medley relay teams. A freestyle relay team of Gibson, Stewart, Anderson, and Ricky Day, finished an excellent second in the state meet in the time of 1:32.5 seconds which bettered the state mark and qualified the relay for All-American honors. At the annual awards night on March 25, the tankers were recognized for their achievements and Dave Gibson was elected Captain for next season.

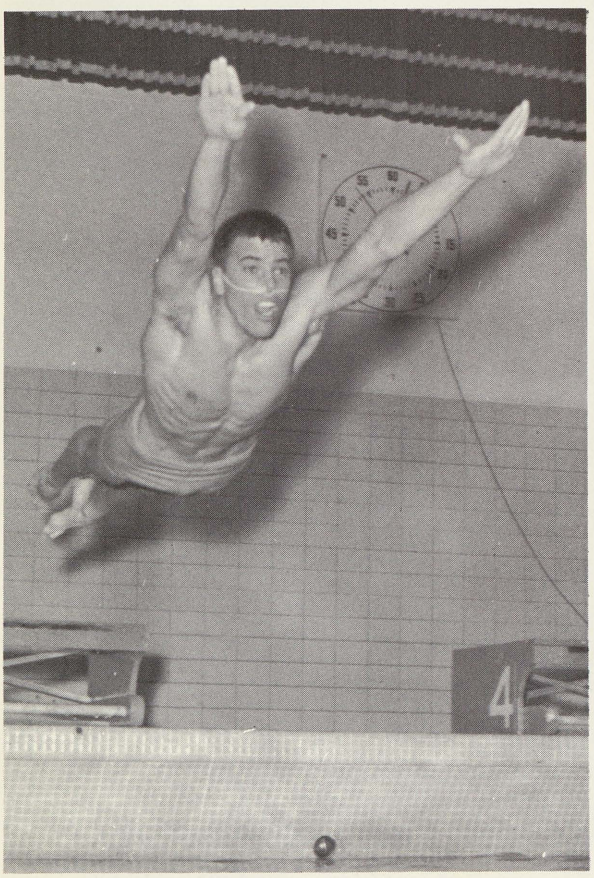

"HE FLYS THROUGH THE AIR ..." — John Dvorsek, who won many firsts during dual meet competition, seems to be suspended in mid air as he attempts this dive.

Fun and plenty of hard work are features of Arthur Hill's swimming team practices. A typical session may begin with the swimming of a mile, followed by a short pep talk stressing the need for lower timings. Next would come fifteen timed and regulated fifty-yard sprints called intervals. Drills for starting dives would be last on the agenda. When practice is over the swimmers head for home tired but happy.

LAST MINUTE INSTRUCTIONS — Divers Ed Potthoff and John Dvorsek listen intently to Coach Morey.

JUST A LITTLE FARTHER — A kickboard, such as the one being used by Jim Krogman, is often utilized by swimmers to practice their kick.

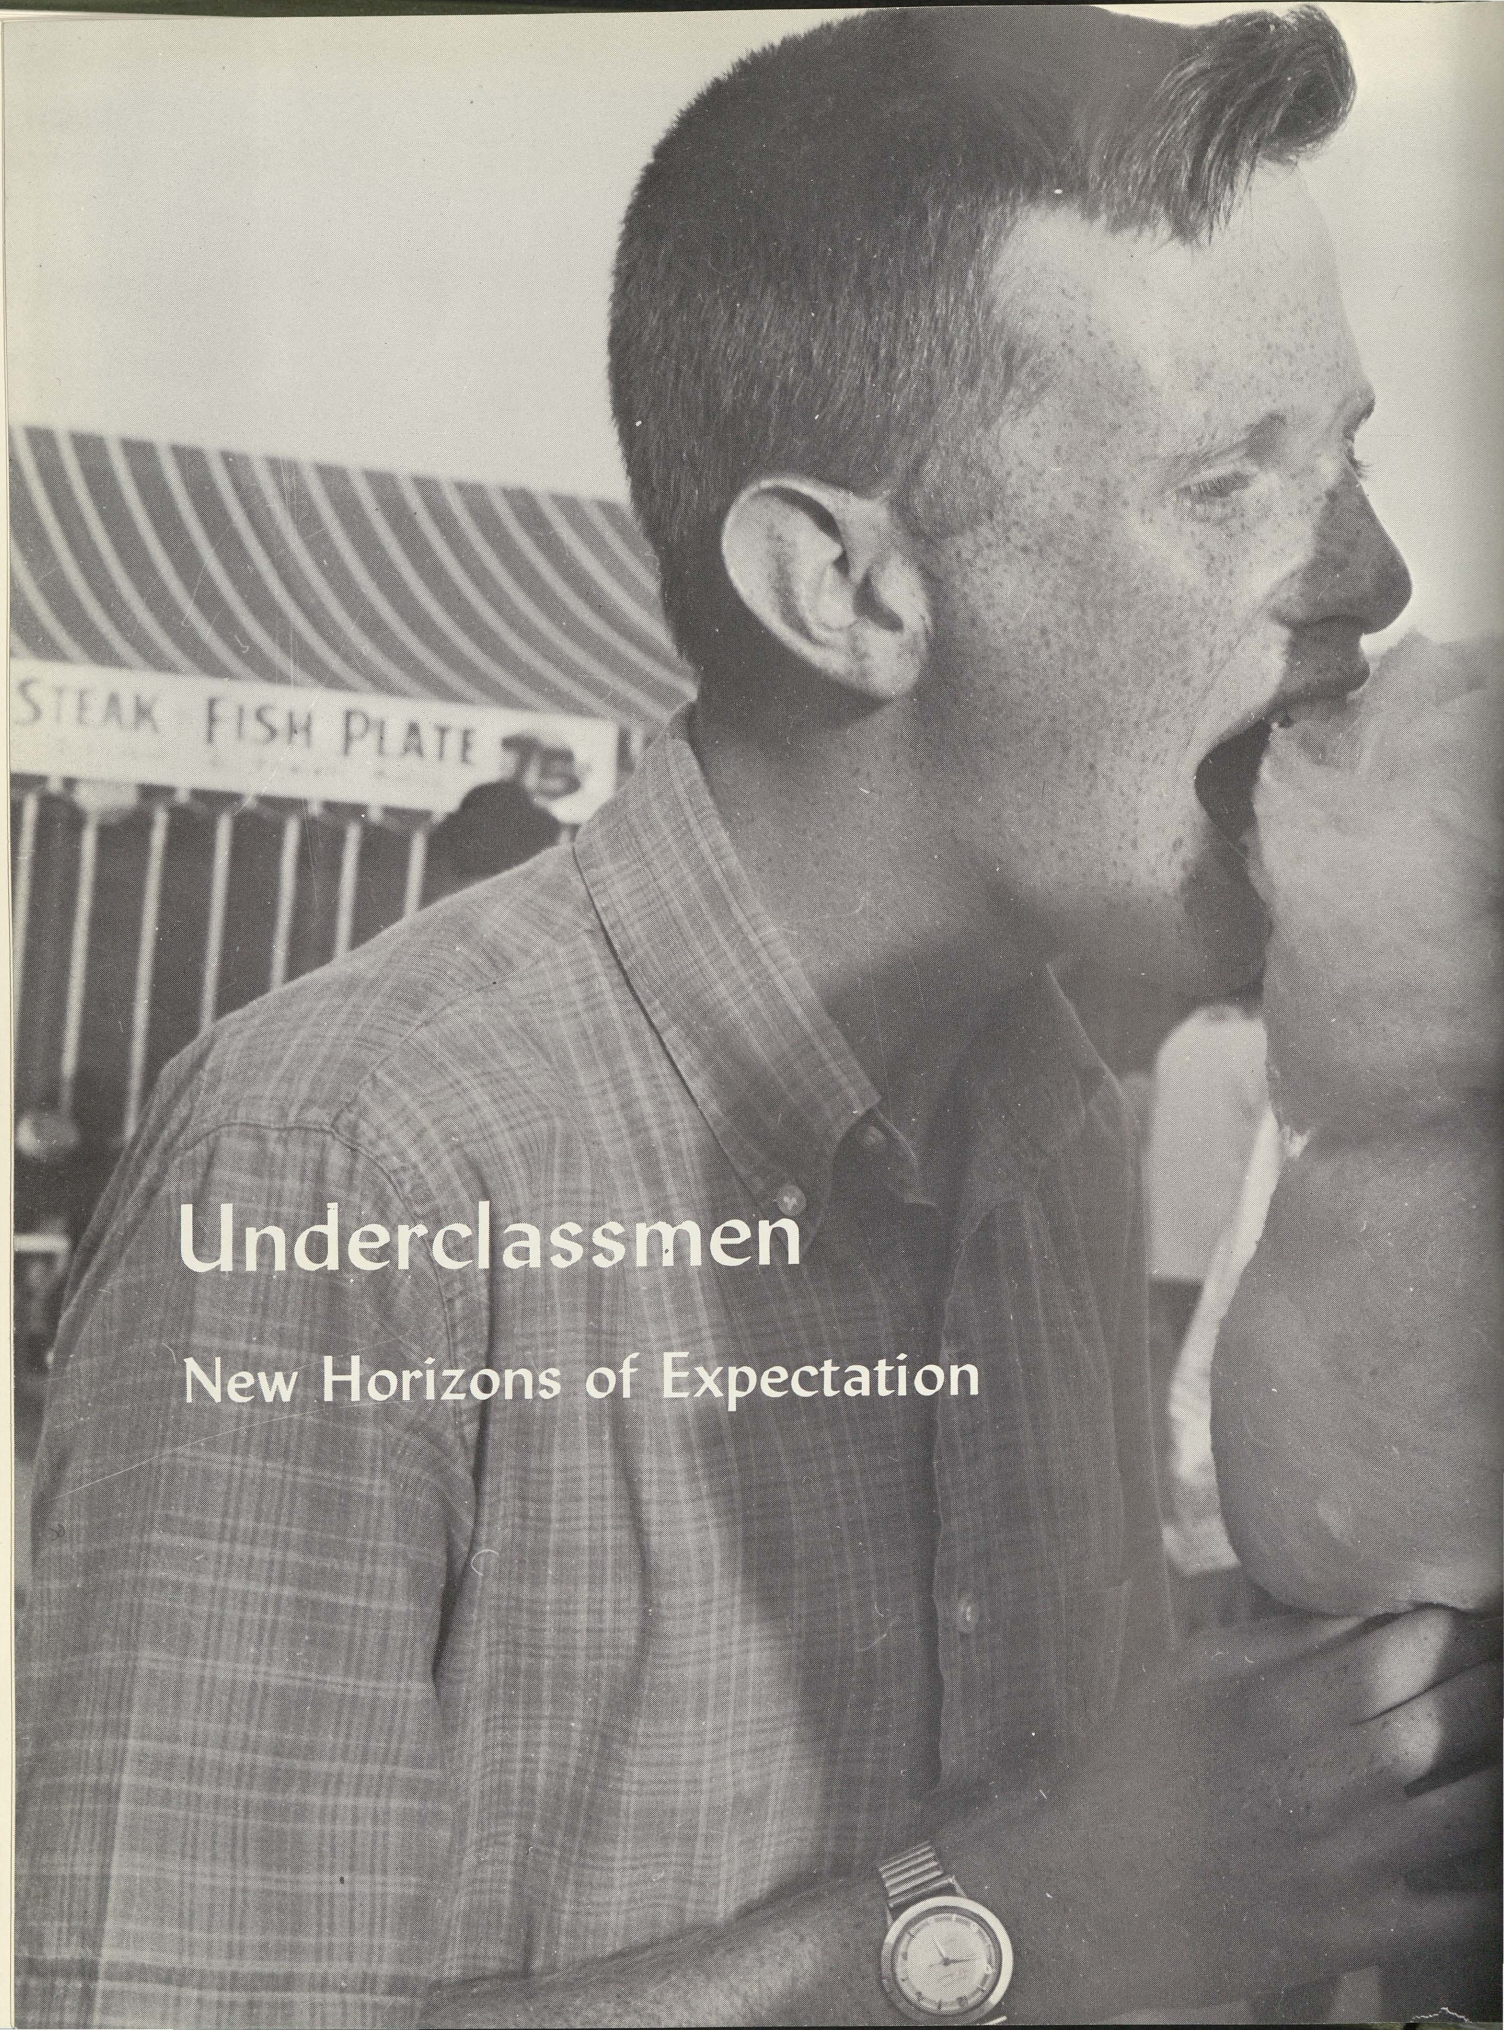

"THAT'S THE IDEA, BOB!" — Coach Morey takes time out from drills to explain some of the finer points of the butterfly stroke to Bob Stewart.

Practice Makes Perfect — Now Go Practice

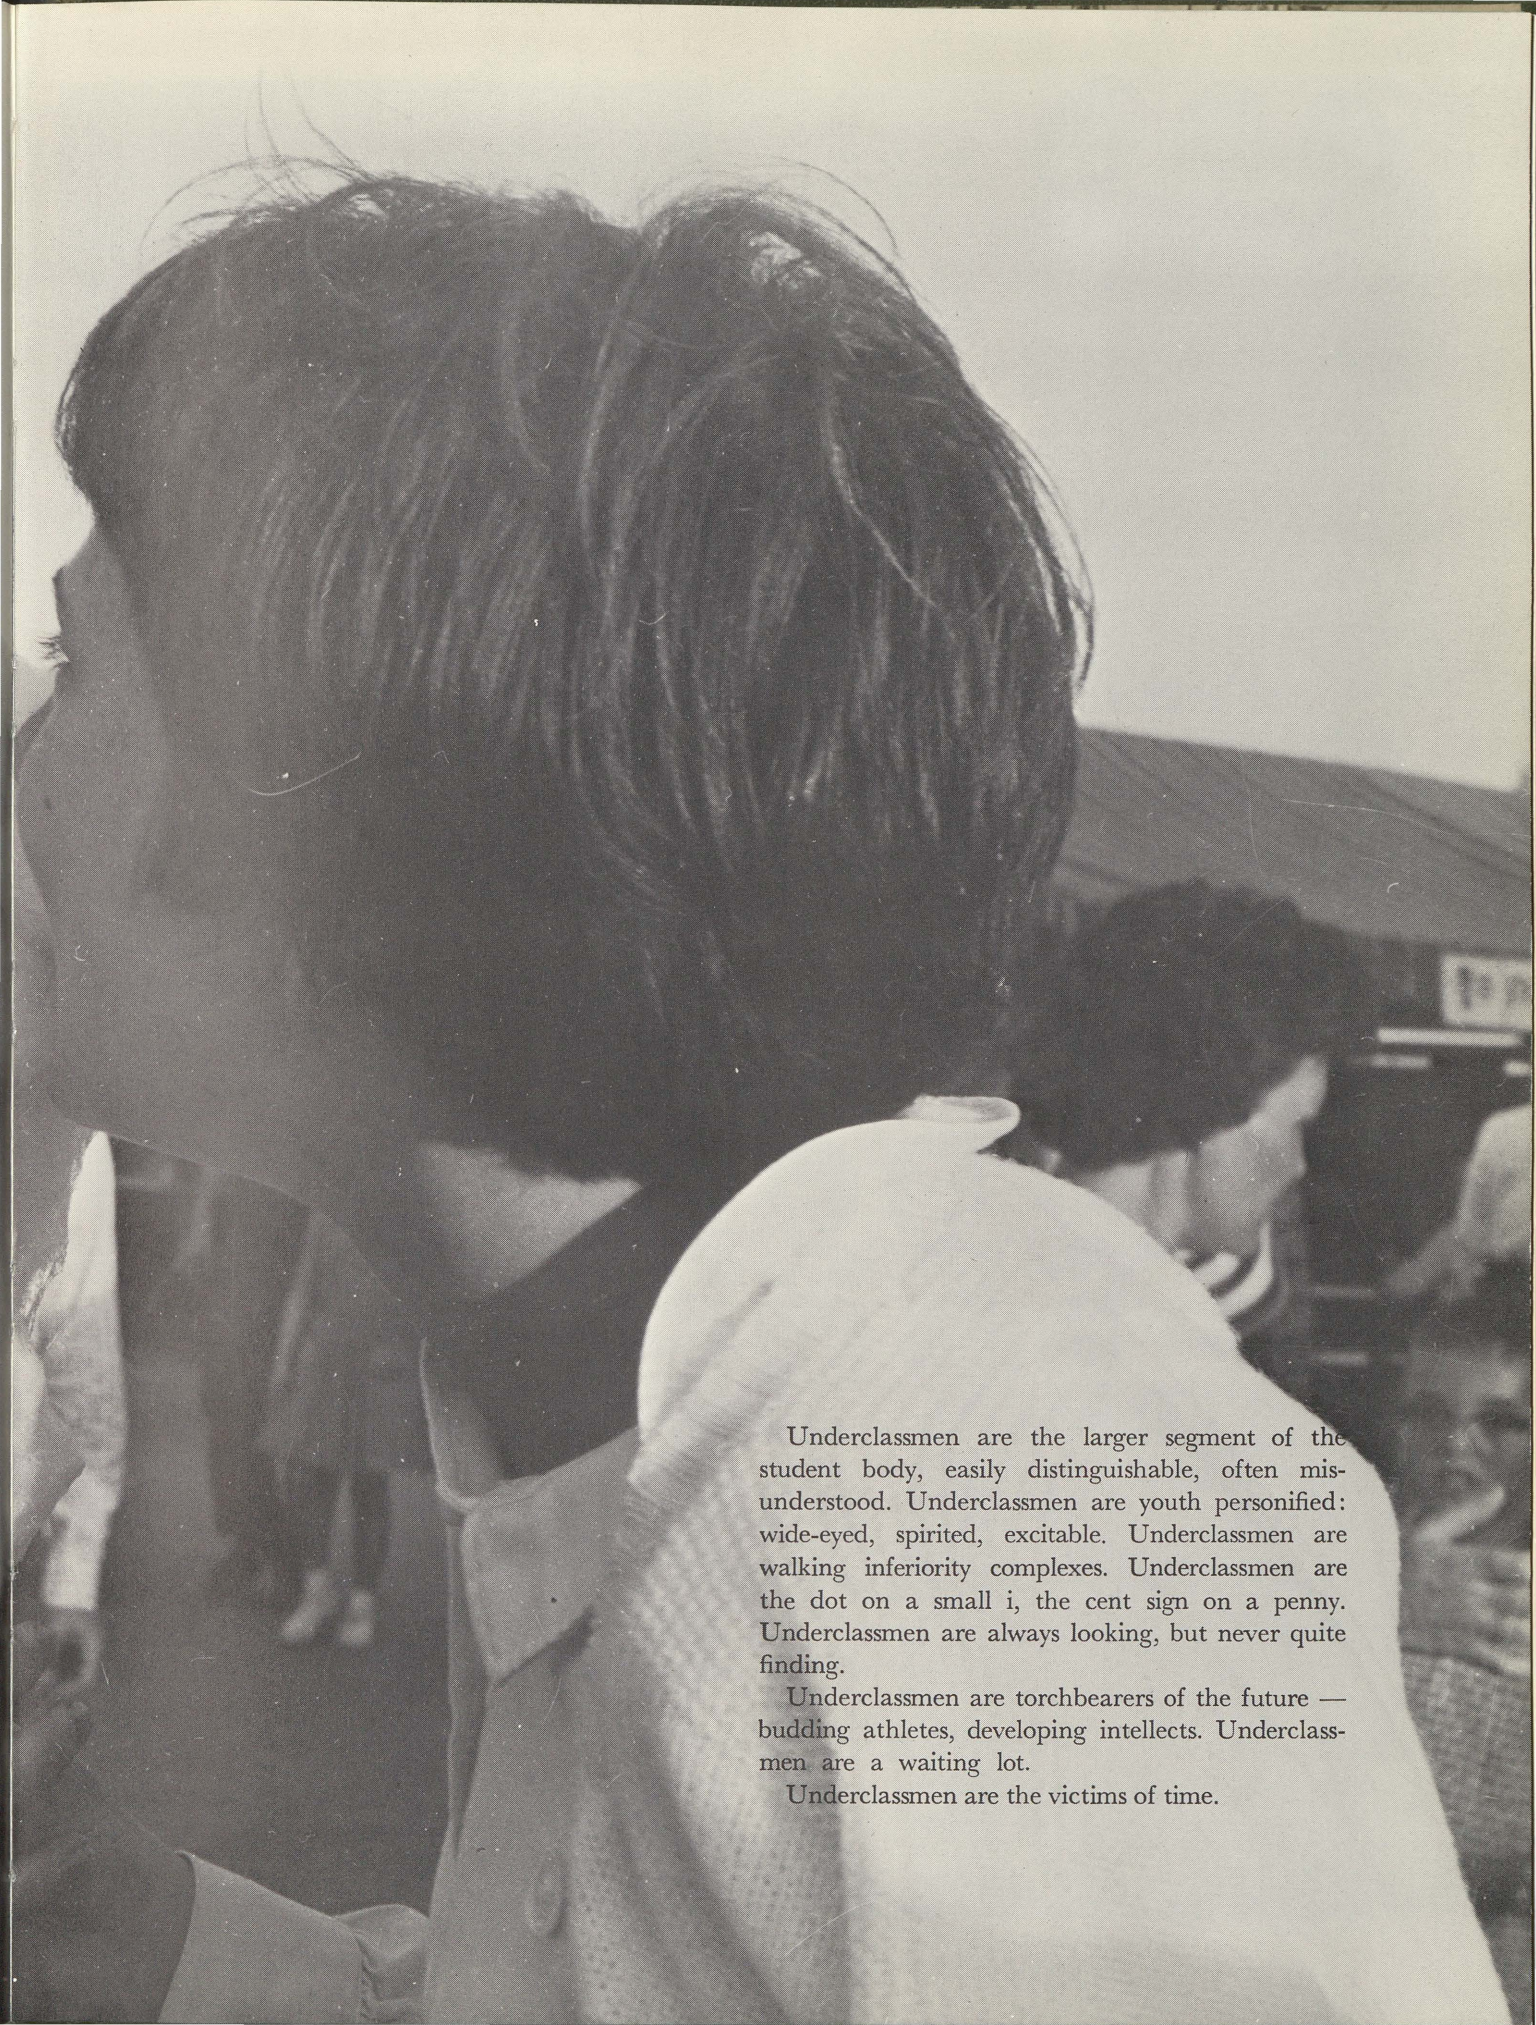

CONFAB — During team talks, which play an important part in daily practices, Coach Morey discusses the strategy for the next meet.

Underclassmen

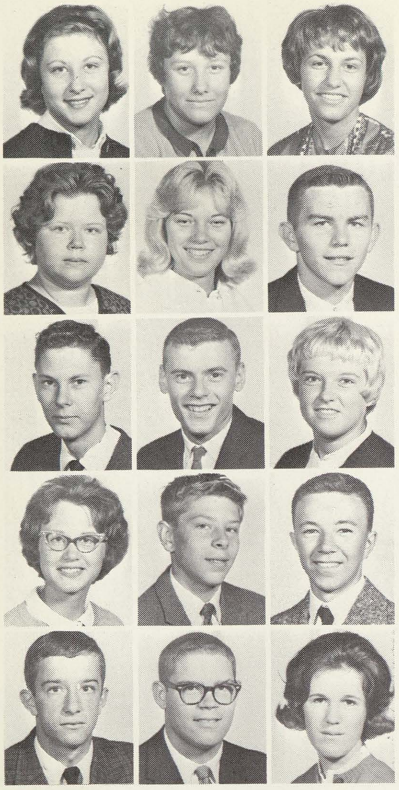

New Horizons of Expectation

Underclassmen are the larger segment of the student body, easily distinguishable, often misunderstood. Underclassmen are youth personified: wide-eyed, spirited, excitable. Underclassmen are walking inferiority complexes. Underclassmen are the dot on a small i, the cent sign on a penny. Underclassmen are always looking, but never quite finding.

Underclassmen are torchbearers of the future — budding athletes, developing intellects. Underclassmen are a waiting lot.

Underclassmen are the victims of time.

Juniors Tackle Honors Courses

Why must a book be so ugly? There it sits. Oh yes, it has a pretty binding, but that binding seems to taunt me. "I dare you even to try to absorb what's in me." It's true, bound in that one hundred square inches of paper and ink is more fact than I could ever retain.

Furthermore, as I trudge home at night, this haunting volume becomes not just a lifeless burden. It slides from under my arm as though it defies me even the chance to explore its content.

Once home, I accept the challenge. My fingers grasp the tangible form of knowledge. Knowledge is so magnificent. But the media of knowledge—study—is not. Study comes back to books. Why must a book be so ugly?

New Horizons of Fulfillment

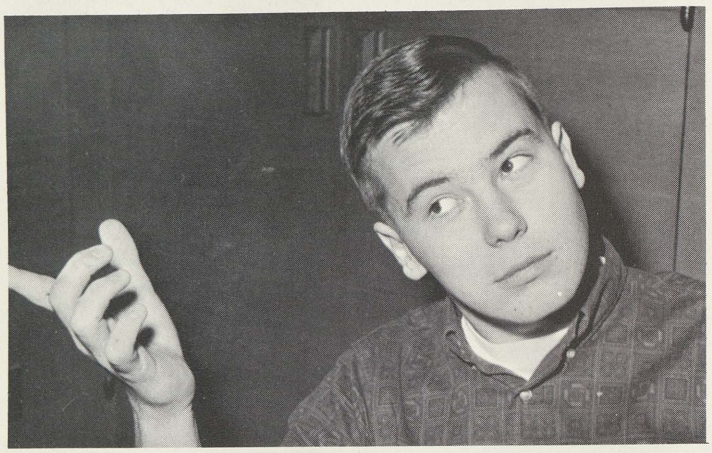

Honor, the recognition of a man by his fellows, is the intangible magnet which draws ordinary man to do extraordinary things. — George Partlow

Hall of Fame — 1963

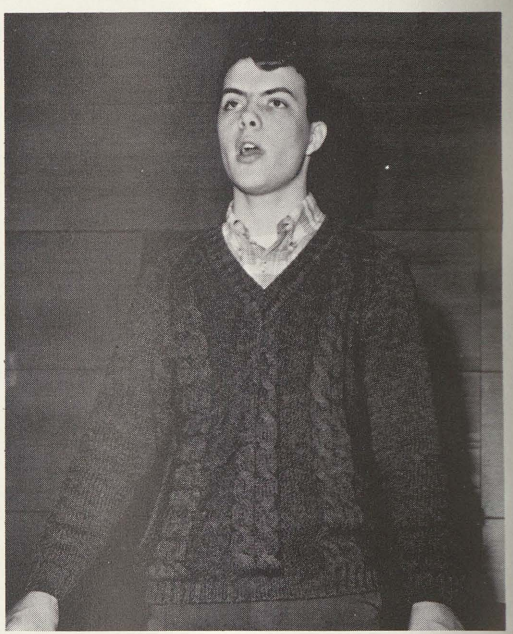

Who is most outstanding in scholarship? Who are the leaders of the graduating class? Which seniors are best known to their classmates? Every year these questions are asked among upperclassmen, and each year the Legenda provides the answers through informal polls of students and faculty. The three athletes on these pages were chosen for their ability and good sportsmanship by Hillite coaches; but it is only fitting that it was the Class of '63 which named the Hall of Fame for '63.

Faculty Honors Mr. Burnett at Spring Dinner

Arthur Hill students and faculty extend their congratulations to Mr. Earl Burnett. Mr. Burnett this year reached the momentous point in his teaching career that qualifies him for membership in the Arthur Hill faculty's Twenty-five Year Club. The formal proceedings commemorating Mr. Burnett's honor will take place at the faculty's spring dinner.

Mr. Burnett's twenty-five years started in 1937 when, sporting a fresh M.A. degree from the University of Michigan, he assumed the teaching chores for band, orchestra, and choir at Arthur Hill High School. Mr. Burnett is currently instructing what he calls "the subject with the built-in incentive," driver's training.

In his spare time Mr. Burnett still enjoys his music, and also spends time making cabinets or other wood-work projects. In addition, Mr. Burnett maintains his early school day's interest in ham radios by advising the school radio club.

RADIO CLUB SPONSOR — Mr. Burnett shows Radio Club member, Kim Kimmel, how to call a fellow ham operator.

MR. EARL BURNETT

MRS. O'DELL, Arthur Hill's new counselor, checks through the vocational file in the guidance center.

PATRICIA GEETING
B.A. University of Michigan

ANN MUELLERWEISS
B.A., Albion College.

Due to the resignation of Mrs. Lorene Bishop and the appointment of Mrs. June O'Dell as a guidance counselor, two teachers joined the English department at the beginning of the second semester. They are Miss Ann Muellerweiss and Mrs. Patricia Geeting. Miss Mary Kay Coleman has taken over Mrs. O'Dell's duties as a Spanish teacher.

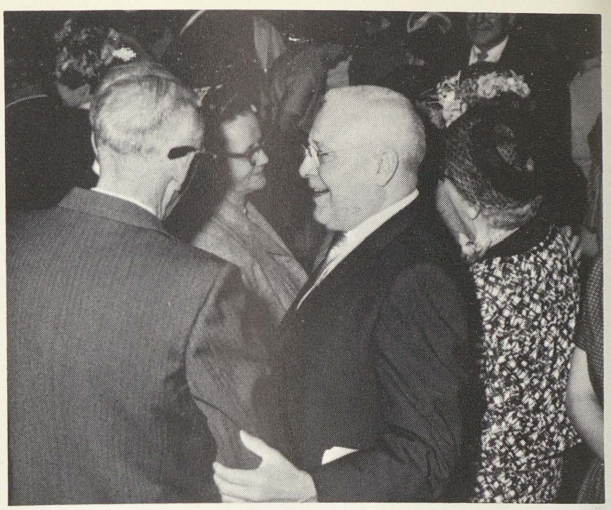

INTERLOCHEN AWARDS — Barbara Hales, Diana Skentzos, Elizabeth Bohnoff, Tom Kuker, and David Satchell excel in musical talents.

THANK YOU SO MUCH — Mary Ann Huyghe accepts the Civitan Award.

OLD FRIENDS MEET — Mr. Harvey Spaulding, the twelfth Honor Alumnus, greets friends at a reception in room 129.

CONGRATULATIONS — Mr. Lewis presents the Harvard Book Award to Tom Malone.

FOR ME? — As National Honor Society members look on, Fred Martin gives Carol Clayton a N.H.S. pin.

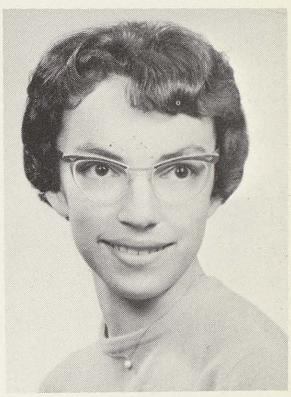

NATIONAL MERIT SCHOLARSHIP QUALIFYING TESTS challenge — Sally Horne, Helen Tunison, Jeanne Gobble, Lynne Nickle, and David Satchell, who emerge as this year's semi-finalists.

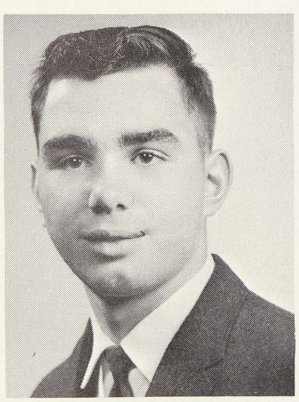

'62, '63 Honors Reward Scholarship

Each year seniors compete for such awards as the Ippel Cup and the Arthur Hill Scholarships. Often this competition is not obvious since it covers a fairly wide field. Even if a graduate doesn't receive any citation, the scholastic discipline which he has imposed on himself will aid him later on. This, though, is merely a happy side effect of his quest for recognition. Important to all the awarding groups are two factors, citizenship and service to the school. In the final analysis, the awards given are the tangible expression of Arthur Hill's motto: "Achievement With Honor."

Dale Timm was given the Treanor Award.

The recipient of the Ippel Cup was Virginia Pudschun.

Fred Pond accepted the Senior Science Award.

Clubs

New Horizons of Activity

There is no difficulty in making things happen;
just go where things are happening.

Varsity cheerleaders — Sue Boyd, Molly Reagh, Cathy Serrin, Kathy Braun, Connie Kreuger, captain, and Sue Zittle lead the student body in cheering.

Junior Varsity cheerleaders — Debbie Bloomfield, Jody Golden, and KNEELING, Carolyn Engle, Barbara Slade, Barbara Glancz, captain, and Trudy Richter — survived the careful screening in fall try-outs.

"V-I-C-T-O-R-Y, that's the Hillite battle cry!" Arousing school spirit keeps members of the Pep Club busy. Under the direction of Mr. Ralph Grueber they paint posters, decorate goal posts, and organize bus trips for the games away from school. Membership is open to Hillites who will support and inspire the teams with their presence and cheers.

How to change spectators from mere witnesses into active members of a team, the Arthur Hill team, motivates the hours of preparation required of our cheerleaders. Stuffy gyms, rain, snow, and hoarse throats never discourage the varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders from leading the cheers and encouraging the teams with poise and precision.

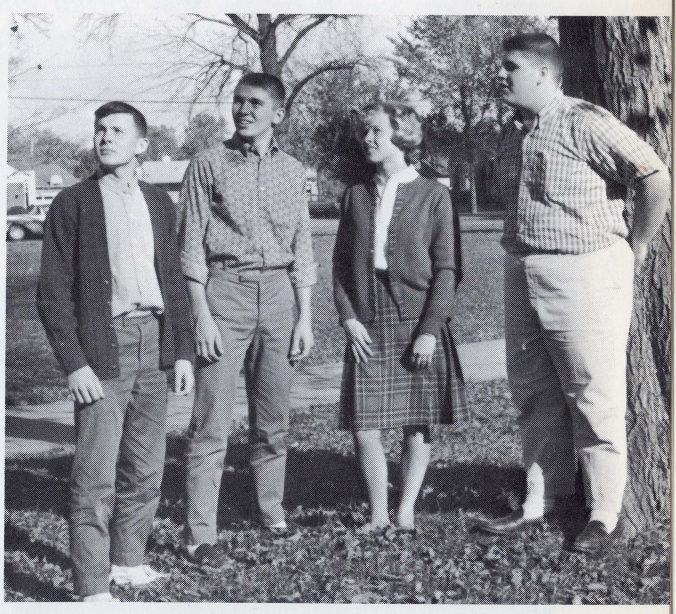

"IT'S A TOUCHDOWN!" From the expression on this Hillite's face, it is easy to see that the Lumberjacks have scored again.

Pep Club — Those Who Really Care

THERE SHE IS! Cheerleaders Molly Reagh, Cathy Serrin, Sue Boyd, Barbara Glancz, and Kathy Braun happily watch the queen and her court at the Homecoming football game.

"PUT THE LIGHTS THERE!" Pep Club officers — vice president, Skip White, president, Tom Kuker, secretary, Bobbie Withey, and treasurer, Barry Godwin — discuss plans for a new club project.

Growing spiritually, mentally, and socially through contact with other people, girls in Y-Teens serve both the school and community. An important project during the year is coloring eggs at Easter for the children at the St. Vincent home. At the close of the school year the president of Y-Teens presents the club's award to the Outstanding Sophomore Girl.

French Club Learns Customs, Culture of Old and New France

"Comment dites-vous cela en francais?" French Club members seek a working knowledge of the language and customs of French-speaking peoples. Those attending meetings are occupied by lively discussions in both French and English; experience thus gained is put to good use in Quebec and abroad. To finance documentary film showings and other activities, the members turn salesmen, vending stationery and baked goods.

PUMPKINS A LA FRANCAIS! French Club members Linda Davis, Dorothy Powers, and Cheri Harper admire the Paris travel folders at the Halloween pot luck.

"Guten tag!" is a familiar greeting used by members of the German Club. The German Club aims to promote more knowledge about the customs, language, and people of Germany.

"Salvete amicos!" To become more acquainted with Roman ways and customs is the main purpose of the Latin Club. Any student presently enrolled in a second year Latin class attaining a "B" or better grade the first marking period is eligible for membership.

At the first meeting new members are sold off as slaves to old members. They remain as slaves until they earn one hundred points by participating in club programs, by bringing refreshments to the meetings, by working on committees, by attending meetings and by maintaining a good report card.

"TE SALUTAMUS!" New slaves Pat Leesch and Janet Olney bow before Latin Club president Lynne Nickle.

To acquaint students with the profession of teaching is the purpose of the Future Teachers Club. Learning the requirements and opportunities in various fields of education helps members to decide which phase of teaching they wish to follow. Some of the members gain valuable experience when they assist teachers at Handley School during their lunch hours and study halls. Members serve as hostesses at P.T.A. meetings and at the annual Michigan Educational Convention. This Christmas the club packed and sent food to a needy family in the area. Meetings consist of guest speakers, who are usually teachers or principals from nearby schools.

NATURAL SCIENCE: Ruth Wappenhensch, Karen Klopf, Nancy Arndt, Sue Adams, Terrill Cooper, Judie Moore.

Natural Science Club strives to acquire a wider knowledge in the field of science. Membership is open to any Hillite who is either presently enrolled in a science class or has previously had one year of science. Guest speakers, movies, and group discussions highlight the meetings.

Working on problems and projects which are better approached by a group, members of the Junior Engineering and Technical Society come from those students interested in science. Meetings are bi-weekly, including visits from guest speakers. One of the more interesting programs this year was provided by the Bell Telephone Company, which loaned two films on the theory of magnetism. In January a group attended a Ford Company seminar on LASER's in Dearborn. Mrs. Marguerite Engle is the sponsor of the club.

The History of Science Is Science Itself — Von Goethe

"The Chymists are a strange class of mortals impelled by an almost insane impulse to seek their pleasure among smoke, vapor, soot, and flame, poisons and poverty, yet among all these evils I seem to live so sweetly, that may I die if I would change places with the Persian King." John Beecher, 1660.

In the past the chemist has been pictured as an absent-minded and balding fellow who spends his time in a crowded laboratory and brews his coffee in an Erlenmeyer flask over a Bunsen burner. Here at Arthur Hill the laboratory is crowded with glassware and students sometimes forgetfully drink from lightly-rinsed beakers reeking of ammonium hydroxide — but members of Alchemists and Crucibles Clubs are surely not balding. These honor clubs, which are open to students who excel in chemistry, provide a chance for fellowship among science-minded Hillites.

"YOU REGULAR OLD BEAGLE HOUND!" — Dianna Green and Thespians Jeanne Gobble, Barry Godwin rehearse "Onions In the Stew."

THESPIANS: Frank Hoover, Barry Godwin, Pam Loeblein, Tom Malone, Marg Asman, Jeanne Gobble.

Public appearance governs membership into the National Thespian Society. Members of this honor club are those who have excelled in dramatics, forensics, or debate.

Honor Clubs Demand Excellence

"I believe in the profession of journalism. I believe that the public journal is a public trust." Members of Legenda and Arthur Hill News staffs with three or more semesters of journalism were selected to join the International Honorary Journalistic Society, better known as Quill and Scroll.

Twirlers Add Sparkle to Half-time

Crisp night air carries the strains of "March, March on Down the Field" to the halftime audience in the stands as the Arthur Hill Majorettes parade down the field. Nine girls wearing starchy white uniforms battle late season cold for the entertainment of Lumberjack fans.

In warmer weather those who attend Band Bounce see the results of all this work as the group gives their last performance of the year on stage. Later, a summer clinic is held under the direction of Mr. Robert Clark, to teach prospective majorettes the routines and twirls.

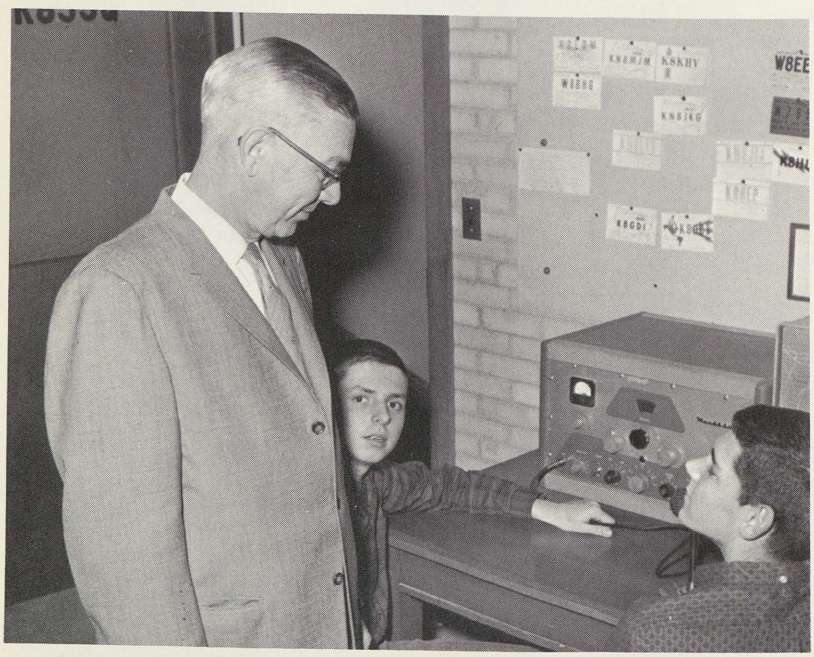

Drum Majors Emerson Bonner, Krekel Green, and Paul Lichau lead the Arthur Hill Marching Band.

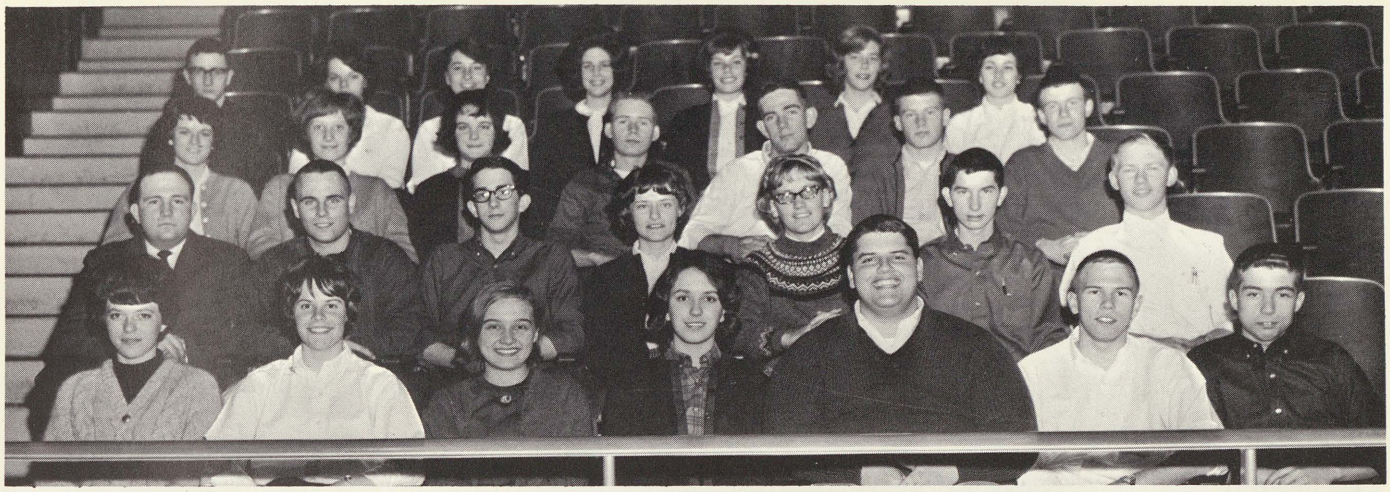

"PUSH THIS LEVER HERE" — Radio Club member Dave Chapman regulates the switch for the microphone.

Radio Hams Contact Far Away Places, People

K8GDI CALLING K8JJQ — Mr. Burnett looks on as Kim Kimmel and Dave Chapman receive a signal.

Cold winter evenings often find four or five Hillites huddled in the clock tower. Cryptic phrases such as "QTH" and "QRM" and bits of one syllable conversation come drifting through the crisp night air. This is K8JJQ, the Arthur Hill High School Amateur Radio Association, organized here to teach future "hams" the rudiments of code and theory, and to provide a chance for local enthusiasts to talk up their problems and experiences. New equipment in use this year, including the beam antenna, has enabled the members and their advisor, Mr. Earl Burnett, to contact operators as far away as South Africa.

Brisk Winter Season Beckons Ardent Skiers

Earlier this year new faculty members were besieged by wild-eyed Hillites who described the delights of sponsoring the Ski Club and urged them to "apply for this position before it's too late." Astute observers inquired what had happened to the previous advisor and were informed he had left the school. As to why, these observers felt that they found the answer last January when Mr. William Gorton, American history teacher, came back from his first weekend trip to Holiday Hills with his leg in a cast.

Despite such minor accidents, however, the Ski Club maintains a devoted following each winter. This year members made two weekend trips to northern ski slopes and a day trip to Skyline. Ed Krictzs is president of this year's Ski Club.

IT ISN'T AS EASY AS IT SEEMS. In order for Krekel Green to ski down this hill he must first reach the top.

LOOK OUT BELOW! Reed Freidinger willingly reveals his excellent parallel as Krekel Green looks on with amazement.

To be sure, school, and school alone, is enough to dishearten even the most able students at times. Many students, however, hold outside jobs. In student workers, we find the real stalwarts. Only the most hearty souls will accept the busy schedule of a job plus studies and then join a very active club such as the Distributive Educational Club of Arthur Hill, or the Future Business Club.

D.E.C.A.H. club members strive to expand their interests and acquaintance of retail business, while Future Business members deal primarily with office procedures.

To combine girls' athletics with good sportsmanship is the purpose of the Girls' Athletics Association. Girls in the G.A.A. must participate in three intramurals during the year to remain members of the club.

For the first time the Aqualite Club of Arthur Hill has become a member of the International Academy of Aquatic Art. Excellent swimming ability and a year of training as an Aquadim are needed before a girl may try-out for membership. The Aqualites recognize and explore the aquatic medium of truly artistic expression and interpretation. The years work is culminated with a water show and exhibition in the spring.

Aqualites Work Toward Physical Fitness

Water Ballerinas Join International Swim Group

In order to become swimmers' aids, girls must be qualified as "Safe Swimmers," which means they have completed the course of swimming offered at Arthur Hill. The main duty of swimmers' aids is to assist Mrs. Eleanor McCrea in her swimming classes.

Boys must be exceptionally good swimmers and must pass a series of tests before becoming swimmers' aids. Their duties entail helping Mr. David Gainey in his swimming classes.

SERVICE — Lucy Cline willingly volunteers her aid at Saginaw General Hospital as a Candystriper.

High school girls who serve their community by working in Saginaw General Hospital include the Candystripers, Junior Red Cross volunteers. Interested girls are chosen on the basis of a recommendation from a school counselor. After a period of training, consisting of twelve hours of on the floor work, the Candystriper receives her pin and chooses a department to work in. She must work at least two and not more than eight hours weekly in this department. Candystripers serve water, deliver and care for flowers, carry trays, assist nurses, and run errands.

Organized with the intent of keeping bowling interests high among students, the Bowling Club opens its membership to novices and skillful keglers alike. Singling out team and individual accomplishments, a banquet climaxes the season's close.

Clubs Serve Varied Needs

Assisting spectators at Hillite activities, the girls of the Usher's club, sponsored by Miss Hajar Busaid, make good use of their spare time. The club participated this year in the winter concert. By willingly donating their time, these girls help make Arthur Hill programs more enjoyable for students and visitors alike.

What is the Miracle Book?

Founded in 1948, the Miracle Book Club seeks to promote Christian fellowship. A meeting, which is often led by one of the club members, is held each week. At times, however, the active members are given the opportunity to listen to a guest speaker. The main topic of discussion is the Bible, the Miracle Book.

Training in leadership, aiding students, and giving service to the school, fifty-six seniors and juniors sacrifice time each day as various school assistants and hostesses. Dividing a year's service between the Community Room and the Guidance Center, Senior hostesses assist students and teachers. These sixteen highly qualified girls also welcome visitors to the school.

Among the duties of library assistants, checking out books and maintaining the file cards are of major importance. Assistants aid the librarians after school as well as during a study hall period each day.

Lab assistants help meet for more individual attention to students in laboratories. Outstanding students from the previous year's classes are chosen for this group.

Attendance office helpers collect absence lists to classrooms.

Spending a study hall each day in the health room, girls aid ill students as health room assistants. Homemaking assistants aid Miss Hile in the homemaking room.

GIRL FRIDAY — Barbara Pinnell wanders the halls legitimately as a senior hostess.

Spring comes with newborn life, and melting snow revives the dormant grass. The grass is green and soft on a hillside, pleasant to sit down in, to remember. The year is gone — just another year perhaps, but being our last high school year, it was something special.

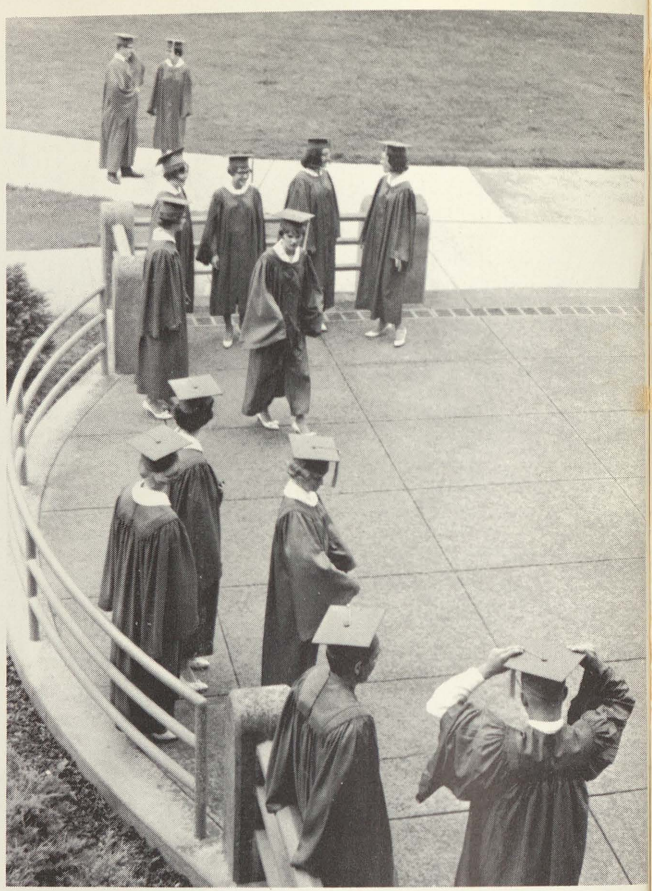

Smallest moments make biggest memories, and the cheering on a bus trip, the day school closed, the times we raced the clock to class, the responses of prospective candy-buyers, lunch on the day of a big game somehow seem important.

The face of sadness was not unknown to us: the standstill tie that ended a football game we wanted to win so badly, the depressing days when everything came due for every class, the night a date got sick at the last moment, the sad notes of Pomp and Circumstance sounded such finality.

Yet, the times were many to be happy. Dancing after that big basketball victory, one of the scarce weekends with little to prepare for Monday, acing a test when the grade was really needed, and even the solemn hopes for the future are joys in a way.

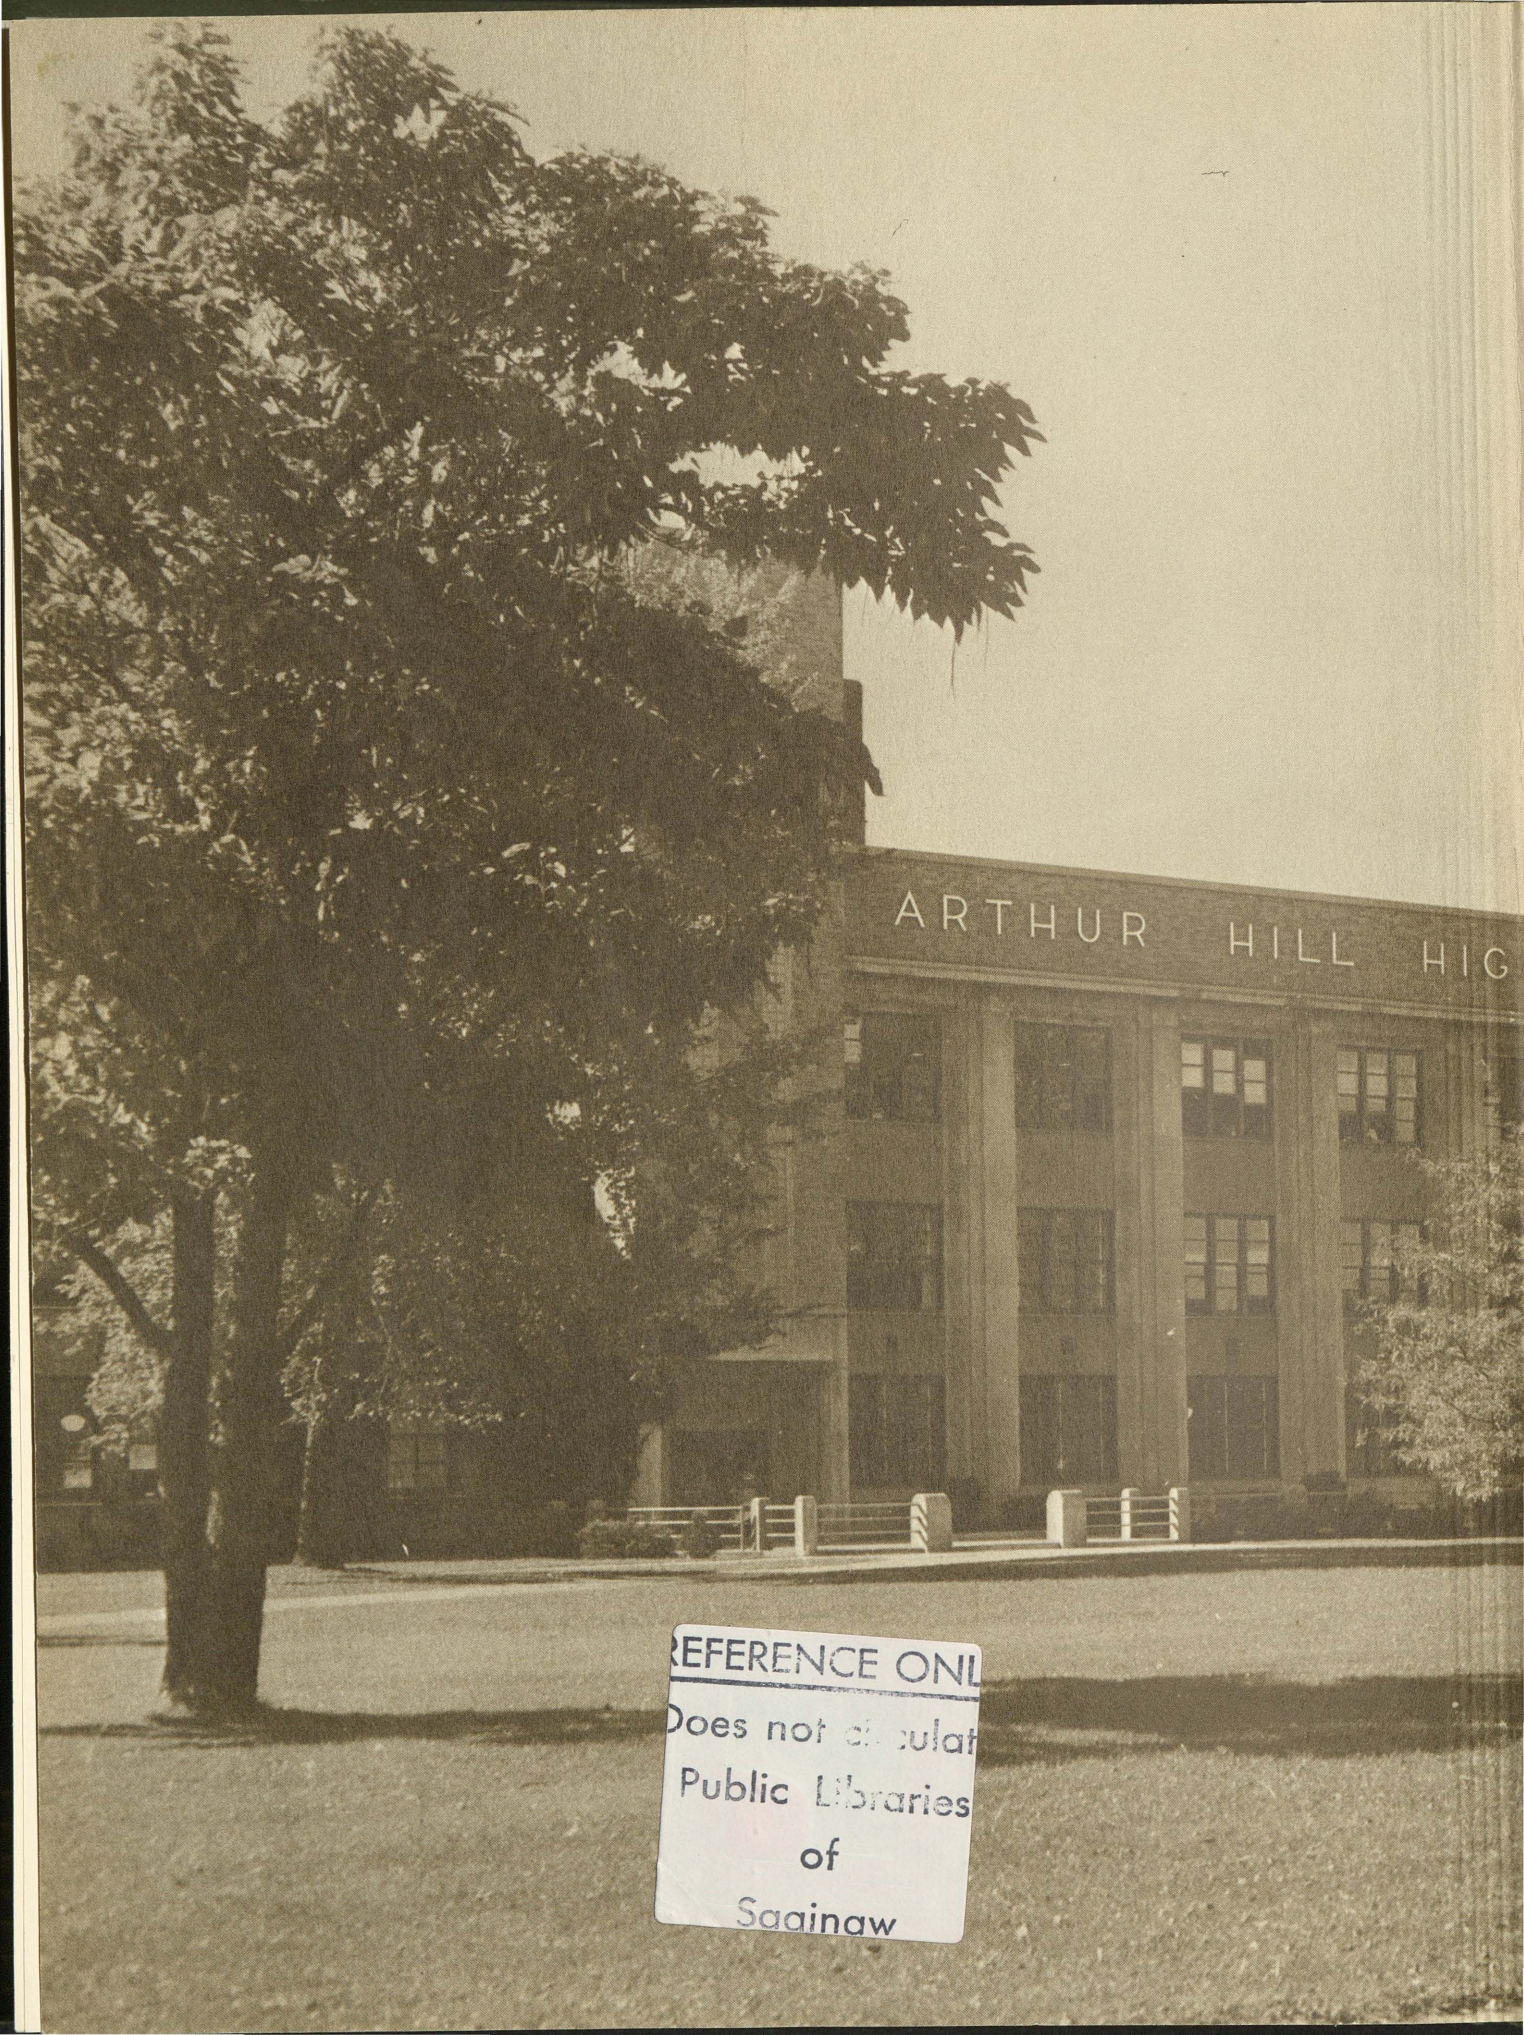

For when the game is over, and the music stops, and the pressure is off, we realize that above all we were here to prepare. We came to absorb fact and long for truth; and when we emerge from beneath our graduation gowns, each of us should know a little more about why.

Each of us had a direction in which to go — new horizons await us.
